Forward

This is the fifth and final volume of The Dragonfly Songbooks:1001 Songs and contains books 33-40 and songs 801-1001.

The songbooks have been organised into 5 volumes, each volume containing 8 books and about 200 hundred songs. Volume One contains songs 1-200, Volume Two has songs 201-400, Volume Three has songs 401-600, Volume Four has songs 601-800 and finally Volume Five has songs 800-1001.

These 1001 songs were selected from songs written between 1976 and 2022. Although most of the songs have also undergone a fair amount of editing over the last few years (2022-2023). The collection is intended as a source of raw lyrical material for musicians. In many cases, the editing has tried to make the word structures more repetitive and so easier to add music that doesn't have too many variations.

I tend to write the words to a particular rhythm and phrasing so they will scan to some music in my own mind. However, when I work with musicians the words may change to suit the structure and feel of the final musical style. It can be a bit difficult with lyrics to predict how long a syllable might last. While the words might fit well to a range of musical styles it is not unusual when I work with musicians to tweak phrasing or word structure to better fit the final feel of the song.

Some lyrics need more careful structure, especially if you are working to a precise melody and need consistent emphasis at some place in a line. Some styles seem to support more variation in word structure. The 'feel' of the song is always critical and the music and words may need to adapt with each other to get the best result. If you can find me, I'm happy to try and help in this process. Jamming out lyrics is usually a fun thing to do, although sometimes it can take a few days to get words that fit the feel and structure of a precise melody.

For me, the words tend to happen when I have a sudden shift to an opposite viewpoint. The six main things that tend to cause this shift I call my six muses. They are Sky, Sea, Heart, Soul, Time, and Place. The song writing process can be quite subconscious, with ideas appearing almost fully formed at unexpected moments. Other times there can be a lot less art and a lot more conscious craft involved in finishing a song. You have a chorus but need the verses or you need another verse. It can be a very crafted or engineered process. I personally find painting a much more mysterious and subconscious creative act. From nothing to something. By contrast, with song writing I can usually trace back the influences that have led to the ideas in the work. Often there is a conscious manipulation of the words to complete the final song.

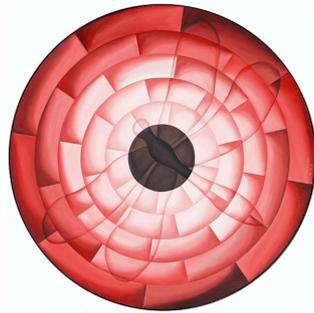

Despite a lot of real-world influences, these songs are a work of fiction. Names, characters, business, events and incidents are the products of the author's imagination. Any resemblance to actual persons, living or dead, or actual events is purely coincidental. Overall, the songs are a product of too much imagination and quite a lot of poetic licence. I would certainly never let reality get in the way of some clever word play. In some cases, I will write using a viewpoint that is completely opposite to my own. Of course, I have also changed a lot, as has the real world, over the last 50 years. While some songs do contain parts of me, these parts may be transient and I'm more likely the evolving sum of all the parts you will find here.

Please provide appropriate attribution if you decide to use the words in one of your own projects. Personally, I think creativity works best when it's fun. Fine tuning, and final production of a song can be a bit of hard work. Again, I'm happy to help if you can find me. Anyway, I hope you enjoy the words and find them useful. Most of all, have fun!

801. Hard-Earned Rest

We're hotter than hell
Than any sinner in flames
Working on the road
Another gang in the chains

Digging holes in the rock
It is forty no less
Sick of working all day
For a hard-earned rest

Gonna get mad
Bang on the door
Gaoler set me free
I can't take anymore

I don't know what
I'm gonna do
Another wild animal
Trapped in your zoo

I will sweat and I ache
In a prison for years
Still busting my back
For blisters and tears

Go throw me in a hole
I couldn't care less
For a hard-earned rest

The weather may change
There is nothing to gain
I'll be working all day
In the sun and the rain

I keep persisting
And alone nonetheless
Sick of working all day

802. Waterways

Play on the shoreline
Another heart skips
The taste of the wine
Stays sweet on your lips

Turbulence raging
Cold water falls steep
Take my hand
I'm thinking
Of sinking so deep

Worlds made of sleep
Go running away
Cross a narrow bridge
And into the day

Sensing it nearer
Connecting our mind
Careless we ride on Infinite days
The waterways of time

Strange fire erupting
And nervous I shake
A volcano dreaming
And it dreams me awake

I'm stepping outside
Out of my heart
And out of all time
Escaping our age
The cage of my mind

Travelling through the Defined and unknown
You left a message
Carved out in stone

So, I had to follow
Journeyed for miles
Half lost over day
And a night to
The light of your smiles

803. Too Bad Be The Devil

It's too dark inside my soul
For anyone to see
Haunted beasts and devils
They all run away from me
More desperate than
The maddest fool
Than any fool could be

Let's raise the sleepy souls in hell
Let's shake those demons waking
We'll stir the sinners in their chains
We'll get the whole place shaking Don't you feel the power now
The witching hour?
All chains were made for breaking

You smile
So you think that
I'm the devil
Well, hear the words I say
I'm too bad
To be the devil
Let me will you
To my way

Well, Satan and his serpents
They get all the press
You ain't seen the fire
It is burning in my soul
More than I confess
Flames leap to dance
So, wear your party dress!

I know you're good, it's clear
From everything you're saying
But you're standing next to evil now
So, you better just start praying
I've warned you more than once
You hear me now
Are you coming? Are you staying?

804. Edge Of The Dream

Start in the middle

Follow the sun

Count up from nothing

One and by one

Filling in pieces

Parts all in order

Reaching the line

At the edge of the border

Imagining

Finding

Caught up between

Ocean unwinding

In recurring theme

Changing believing

Waves in my thinking

Shoreline deceiving

Finding the edge

Of the dream

Drawing a colour

Red, yellow, blue

Then at the end look

Back at the view

Track the horizon

Tracing a sign

All the way out

To the vanishing line

805. Lovely Lady Gone Blue

Farewell a memory
Seeking some danger
Who can explain her
Runaway stranger

Leaving, it's over
Everything through
What will you do?
Cry in a corner?
Runaway too?
Do to do, do, do

Friend of the shadow
Sad in a dark veil
Time is so frail
Walking a lost trail

Sink down in a cold
Well of dark fears
Forget the old years
Warm river of tears

806. Long Wait

Well, I dreamt about volcanoes
A predicted metaphor
Should have seen the great eruption
The hot lava on the floor

Well, I dreamt the hills were naked
Like mounds I teased to please
And my thoughts that touched them
Was some lover like the breeze

They say today's the shortest day
I blame astronomy or fate
It sure felt like the longest night
The night of the long, long wait

I dreamt a ship alone in storm
With seamen running everywhere
Maybe it referenced me

I dreamt a warmth and wetness
I worshipped on my knees
Perhaps it was the ocean for Tasting salty like the seas

807. Soul State

Do you believe we keep a soul state?
The highest hope attained
Our last most happy moment
That in our mind remains

Now I've dreamed a higher dream
All these many days of late
Climb another aimless mountain
Resetting my soul state?

We are automatons, machines
All fear and love and screams
We live to eat and sleep
And to propagate our genes
Made of flesh and blood and dreams

Do you lose way in your soul states?
Like a game of snakes and ladders
One day stepping up, next day
Sliding down the adders

When you reach your highest dream
It's only time again to fall
Then time to climb the stairs again
To trudge up them, or crawl

Some seek the stairway up to heaven
It's the western way of things
While in the east the wise won't seek Enjoy whatever their fate brings

Do you climb up in your soul states?
Step the stairway in your soul
Sleepwalking up to happiness
Up to heaven I am told

808. Wicked Dreams

Dreams are all tied Up in a rope
So there's no escape
And there's never hope
It's been a while
Since I was sane
So I contemplate
Your evil smile
And your pleasure
Of my pain

You've got a wicked smile
Do you sleep on wicked dreams?
Makes me wonder all the while
If you're as wicked as it seems

You'd steal any soul
With your devil eyes
You'd crush the wings
Of poor butterflies
Since I did change
Now I wonder
If you're wild
If you are crazy

809. Falling Out Of Love

I'm familiar catastrophe
I was born the last survivor
I'm a little scared of heights
But I could be a brave skydiver
Falling out of aeroplanes
I could fall from miles above

But I can't take losing you
Or falling out of love
I can't take losing you
Or falling out of love.

I'm acquainted with all disaster
Though some things make me shiver
I'm a little scared of needles
But I could be a brave blood giver
I could go to the hospital
And give three pints of blood

Also practiced and good at moving
Like a cowboy riding lighter
I'm a little scared of bullets
But I could be a brave gunfighter
So, I could fight with six-guns
If the push it came to shove

810. Heart On A Locket

She wears a sweet little smile
On her lips never kissed
My love hurts from the need
Like a dagger that twists
She wears a little gold heart
On the chain on her wrist

Who holds the key to the heart on your locket?
Show me the boy
I will go pick his pocket

And she moves ever swifter
Dance, the music beats loud
My love aches from the need
Like a beggar not proud
My mind with you drifting
We're all alone in the crowd

Your eyes invite questions
That only time can decide
My love wants from the need
With that old flooding tide
My heart beating answers
Come and be by my side

811. Twenty Miles To Sorrow

Creatures of anxiety
Searching for something
We don't even need
A higher pace, a newer place
A simple change of speed

East of our divide
I could rest or I could run

It's been a while
Since, I saw you smile

But I've kept my compass true
I hope I find you home
It's either twenty miles to sorrow
Or twenty miles to you

Dust and disappointment
All relative somehow
Heart and soul, feeling old
I'm thinking different now

The narrative got twisted
Feigned indifference
Kite on ocean breeze
Passed through, sea of blue
I'm changing by degrees

812. I'm An Alien

According to the surgeon general
Alcohol limits my precision
Makes me dangerous
Removing all abilities
For sensible decision

Feelings get so complicated
May be there's a word
I can't find a simple name
That crazy guy is talking out
It's my inside voice ag

Oh, I'm an alien
Don't fit in
It's not too hard to tell
Lucky I'm a stranger here
And no one knows me well
Only thing I don't know is
From which star I fell

But I'm an alien
And everything is strange
And you're the one thing
In my earthly world
That doesn't need to change

My breath labours like accordions
I dance with my concerns on this Topology of time
While it leaves these twists and knots
And its shape upon my mind

The music all seems digital
I hear gaps between
The zeros and the ones
And time melts like a candle
And the wax is leaving runs

813. Unchaste Kisses

The sun is so hot
I can't cool down
Even in the sea
Without a breeze
Soft on my skin
Here blowing me

Wet all your hair
Water runs down
Your body I see
You are a tease
You know what You're showing me?

I bet you're not Forgetting me
I'm not thinking
Of wasting
My hasty wishes
Thinking of letting me

And so if your Heart is set
On getting me
And you're not ready
For the taste
Of these unchaste kisses
Then you better be

You will invent
New ways for Surprising me
Hard to explain
All the feelings
That rise in me

Don't have a name
For the art you
Are selling me
But like what your Eyes seem to Be telling me

814. I Just Don't Mind

Time's been passing quickly lately
My tempered heart
Grows strong but not too hard
Feel my fate is waiting quietly
There are storms on the weather chart
Simply pay them no regard

They say you don't bring me reason
You only make me blind
They say you're gonna break my heart
You're probably just the kind

Still you bring along your smile
I think that that's just fine
And if you want to break my heart
Well really I don't mind

Strong wind from the wrong direction
My traveller's heart
Soon setting out to sail
Your arms promise me protection
But I'm restless in this port to start
To be in the wildest gale

I believe all love
Lasts forever
It's just that Sometimes time go quickly
Sometimes it passes slow
I believe our love
Will be forever
I'm not sure how fast
That time will go

815. Must Be My Soul

Time seems like a straight line
When I look back to the end
Then why is every new day
Blindly hidden round some bend?

I met you in the folds
Of my desire
On a lover's bed
Though goodness knows
What you were doing
Sleeping in my head

Down there I am sinking
It ain't my mind
Nothing I am thinking
It ain't my heart
Not a feeling I am told
It's some longing deeper
That I cannot control
It must be my soul

My waking hours seem like sleep
Each day's another dream
My riddles have no answers
And my story has no theme

I met you in the winds
Out by the sea
Up were lover's leap
What you were doing
Dreaming in my sleep

816. Order Of Things

First was last
And second was third
Last was the best
And the next unheard
And another odd thing
Was seen to occur
Like a scrawl of line at
The start of a word

We hope for the best
From the rule of kings
It's the fall of the beast
With the broken wings
Something is strange
In the order of things

There's a cut in the midst
Of the last heartstrings
It's the end of the line
In the arc of the swings

Last was first
And second forgot
No was the yes
And everything not Irrational action
Thickened the plot
Like a truth got scratched
Onto a blind spot

817. Comfort Of Things

I got a dream
 Head going under Flood rising up on the tidewater stream
 You know how it seems
 I'll never quite float
 Without water wings
 I got a dream in my head
 Restless like a pussy
 On a feather bed
 From the comfort of things

 Head tumbles over
 Back flipping
 On the old balance beam
 You know what it means
 Held up for a moment
 On rotary wings

You know what I said
 Ahh the comfort of things
 The absolute comfort of things

I got a dream
 Head looping around
 Miming a sing song
 On the faint radio beam
 Talking to your mind in Random word strings

 Head to the kitchen
 Filling up tarts
 With the cold whipping cream
 Catching the feelings
 Riding the upswings

You know what I said

818. Race In Melbourne Town

Yes I did my doe
More times than I remember
Regular as clockwork
First Tuesday in November

Though I saw my horse get up
Just once in fifteen cups
Yeah I got pretty drunk
Think I picked up twenty bucks

Sure got lucky that year
So hear it all and weep
Also won three bucks, fifty
For third place in the sweep

Come put your money down
Watch the nags go round
Two miles of hallowed ground
There's a race in Melbourne town!

There's people in the T-A-B
And punters there on course
All sure as they can be They've got the winning horse

Pros talk weights and barriers
Form and breeding stock
The only certain way to win
Is to pick the bleeding lot

Favourite started well
He was running pretty fast
I had my money on him
But he ended running last

I make some people happy
I make those bookies smile
They know my horse is losing
Before that second mile

Came home naked one day
My shirt lost off my back
Yeah, I'm not a gambler
I'm just a loser at the track

But do it all again next year
Not giving up the ghost
I hope I'll see my horse
Be the first one past the post

819. Coffee Café Love

Café Black & White
 Continental decor
 Two lovers strolling in Sitting by the door

She's got Cold brown eyes
 Iced-chocolate stare
 Gold in her ears and Ringlets in her hair
 She smiles excited
 All froth and bubble
 I smell espresso trouble
 Fashion on her back
 Silver on her wrist
 Animated smiles
 Takes her love
 With a twist

His eyes are dark
 Tempting wide and intense
 Playing a part
 Complete confidence
 He is telling a story
 He's building it up
 Sipping on his cup
 Hand waving free

Nicotine and the
 Caffeine blood
 Warm feeling

Café Black & White
 Two lovers leaning in Whisper by the door

He's Latin-looking Hair swept back
 A mystery man
 Drinking coffee, long black
 Cool white t-shirt and Faded blue jeans
 Over the table he leans
 Whispers his love
 Offers her sugar
 And a little cream
 Sipping on some Indonesian
 Java bean

Her lips are red
 Tempting and wet
 Her fingers
 Putting out a cigarette
 She smiles dangerously
 Things are looking up
 Lipstick on the cup
 Hand on his knee

 Warm feeling

820. By The River

The moonlight made ghosts
Though I did not feel the fright
Your shadow was by my side
I saw you by the river last night

The waters whispered softly
A gentle eddy in the river stirred
Circled once and then forever
It stole away your words

Though I did not feel the fright
I saw you by the river last night

Your hair was in the breeze
Like dancing streams of light
Your hand was held to mine
I saw you by the river last night

Hypnotic notions in your eyes
Made me giddy, made me sway
Held my head below the flow
As it washed me far away

Like dancing streams of light
I saw you by the river last night

Made me faint to be so near
I almost thought of flight
Your lips were held to mine
I saw you by the river last night

I could not see the darkness
Where lost the river rolled
Your touch was like the waters
Bot very warm, but very cold

I almost thought of flight
I saw you by the river last night

And so the river flowed away
Your touch, my second sight
Made me wonder if perhaps
I saw you by the river last night

You disappeared before me
Like only phantoms leap
Maybe the river was my dream
And the darkness was just sleep

Your touch, my second sight
I saw you by the river last night

I woke laying by my window
Still the moon was shining white
Either your spirit was a memory or
I saw you by the river last night

821. Out A Bus Window

I climb aboard
 A government bus
 I'm feeling, so sly
 Sitting in the back
 I'm playing, I spy
 Looking out the window
 Watching the shops, go by

There on the corner
 Corner of my eye
 I see something
 Way up in the sky
 Breaking gravity's law
 Fifty stories high
 Big shopping store

A man that I trusted
 Has been dealing me trash
 My lawyer got busted
 He'd been stealing my cash

So, I'm half blue
 Like this big bus, see
 Are trying to bust me
 I keep filling in forms
 The date I was born
 But I don't think
 They trust me

Got to go, get off this bus

Sign says we sell
 What you want and more
 Gonna feel, so high
 Lift to the top floor
 Whatever, its worth
 Choosing any window
 Coming back down, to earth

I saw digital music
 In a window display
 Machines for sound
 From a laser beam
 Keep spinning away
 Wheels in a dream
 On lucky sale day

But it's hard to believe
 Yes there's always a catch
 Like a trick up the sleeve
 Or an itch on a rash

 The date I was born

822. Time Stands Still

The watcher has no strength
To play the game he sees
The eyes grow tired from pattern
Fail to see by slow degrees
Your eyes are lures to mysteries
I'm drawn against my will
They speak so many secrets
Make, time stand still

What if I knew the secret
How to make time last
How to break the nameless laws
That make our moments pass?

If I could slow the beat of time
And retard its tempo till
Its constant blur became a pause
Would, time stand still?

I'm too tied to ponder secrets
That promise no rewards
While the day belongs to heroes
Who fight ahead with swords
Your eyes are burning irons
There's no heat I feel a chill
The world is held in trance
And, time stands still

823. Blueprints

I'm in the city
Empty weekend in July
Architects have played at god
And drawn the buildings high
Made monuments and steeples
That shadow out the peoples
Great grey towers in the sky

Hey man
I don't understand
Tell me if you can
What's the story?
What's the plan?

The sun is setting
Sky is filled with tints
The red it leaks like blood
I'm gathering the hints
Any meaning I can find
I'm searching through
The blueprints
No order comes to mind

Seeking for a soul
Or something to inspire
Imagining a reason to persist
I feel a fool with dying fire
Cooling flame inside my dream
Cold steel like some machine
Where's the hope that I require

824. Comes And Goes

Secrets are dangerous
I don't know why
Like mythic dragons
That fly in our skies
Hungry beasts swim
In the shadow lake
If you stirring them up
They're coming awake

On the long way
From light-to-light
Ride the endless tide
That ebbs and flows
From day-to-day
From night-to-night
There's this dream
That comes and goes

There's a lot of things
We don't understand
There's a lot of waste
In forsaken plans
A rising smoke
A red fire light
A lot of trouble burns
Our city tonight

There's a lot of time
In the yellow sands
There's a lot of wind
In the border lands
A sulking mist hides
The old city sights
A lot of stars fall in
Our heavens tonight

825. Nothing New

I invented a little saying, it goes
 "There's nothing new under the sun"
 I told a friend
 He said, I think it's already been done
 Sometimes we think too much
 It's just a waste
 There's nothing new
 I rested my case
 Then I got out of bed
 To read what my email said

Remember you are quite unique
 Just like everyone all right
 A day without sunshine
 Is like that other thing night

A parsec is not a long time
 There is no future in time travel
 We're born naked, wet and hungry
 And then things begin to unravel

If you can't convince them
 Best confuse them somehow
 I poured spot remover on my dog
 Don't know where he is now

There's nothing new
 Under the sun
 All you do's already done
 Nothing we do
 Makes any sense
 So we just fake it
 With some confidence

I'm writing a book. I'm on a run
 Already got, my page numbers done
 I think my invisible ink ran out as well
 But I mean, how do you tell?

I used to have an open mind
 But my brains fell on the floor
 I used to be indecisive.
 But I'm not so sure anymore

I took an IQ test but I failed
 Death is hereditary, I'm afraid
 If they took out all the sponges?
 The ocean would be too deep to wade

I wonder what similes are like?
 Abbreviation is quite a long word
 What's another term for synonym?
 'Phonetic' isn't spelt the way it's heard

Joined the Army, met interesting people
 Killed them in case they're not nice
 So what happens if you get Scared half to death, but it happens twice?

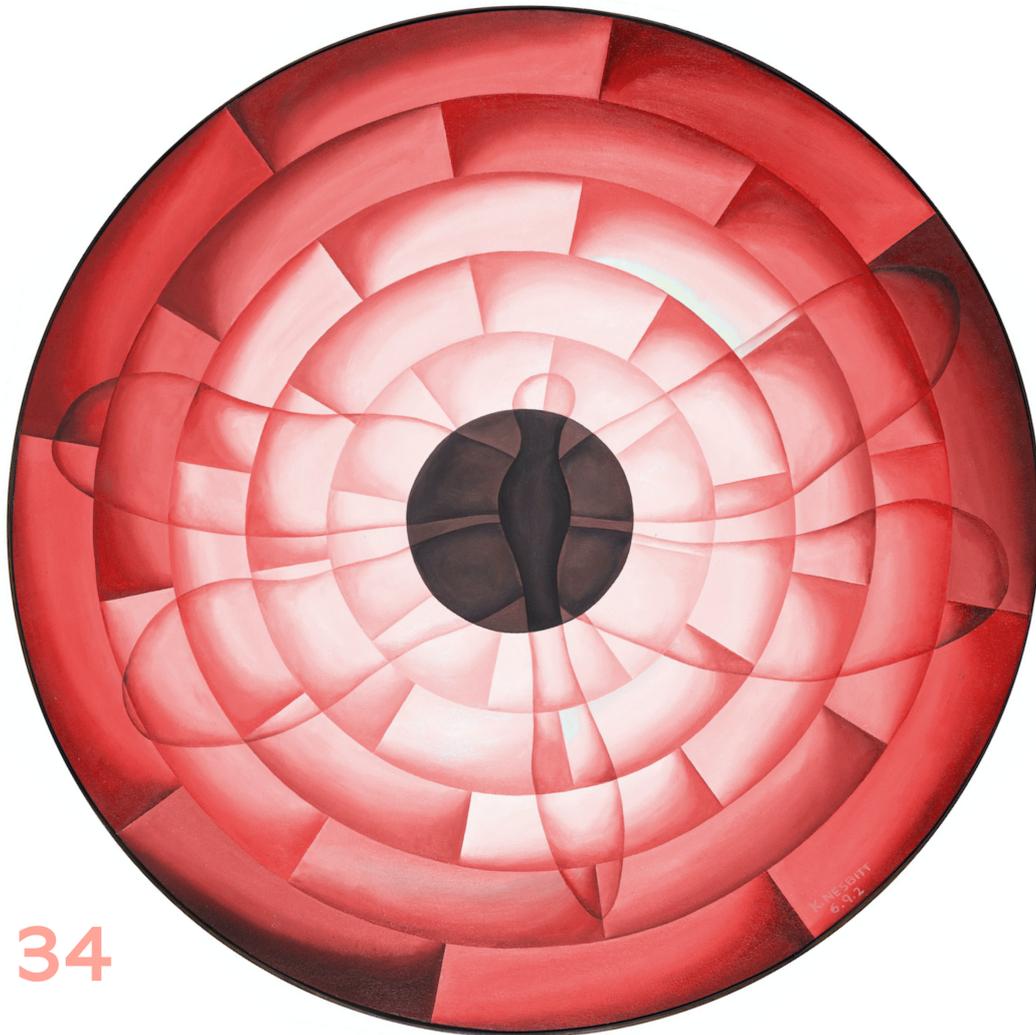

I threw my cat away - kitty litter?
 The sheep shrank in the rain
 Why did the psychic ask for my name?
 Stopped to think, and didn't start again?

Give me ambiguity
 Or patience - but not slow
 Time is the best teacher
 But it's killing everyone I know

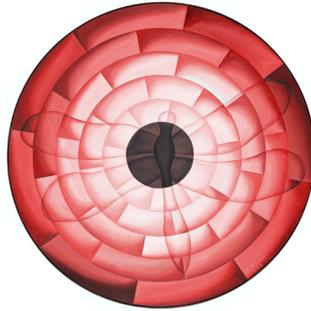

I just can't imagine a world
 With no hypothetical situations?
 Why do people who know the least Become the loudest irritations?

Some people are alive because It's illegal to kill them. But you can wish
 I thought more people would be happy
 Since ignorance is bliss

826. Happy River

Tired of scaling mountains
And sick of walking round
Everyone has lots of trouble
Gonna bury you down

But I know a happy river
It meanders like a song
I'm gonna ride that tide a while
And let it drift along

Just let it flow
Let the future come
Let the present go Until
Thing's are coming not too fast
And passing not too slow

Take a careful listen
Catch the message
Of this song
Let it flow
Nothing is too wrong
Let the worry go
Come ride happy river
It will drift you right along

Lot of people got some advice
Fill me with their worry
They're pointing out directions
And telling me to hurry

Don't fight that happy river
Probably runs too strong
You best slide upon a free ride

Down like a dream
Running to the sea
Slowly and serene
So you
Stop thinking where you're going
And forget where you've been

827. Won't You Be Mine?

Do you know all about
The charms of the moonlight?
Did you know that tonight
It's full light's above?
Do you know all about
The shadows of deep night?
The dances of love?

You're standing so close
And looking into my eyes
You know I'm running Right out of time to go fight it
Won't you be mine tonight?

My flesh and my blood
They don't feel
Like they're steel
The way that it feels
I'm feeling too weak
Won't you be mine tonight?

My pulse skipping, beating
There's damp on my palms
Look into my eyes
Come dance in my arms
I'm breathing so loud
It's about all I can hear
Charms of the moonlight
Are calling us near

828.Sky And Me

I was of the sea
A child of water
All the restless oceans
Tides inside of me
All that blue
Uncharted coastline
Discovering the flow
Feelings on my mind

But lately
There's something
You can't see
Something's
Been going on Between
The sky and me

Eyes drift up to light
The open cloudless
All the boundless blues
Tempt me into flight
All that sky
Unlimited and long
Discovering my wings
Dreaming out song

829. Every Story

We're looking for a story written Down in ancient scriptures
Distracting people with a tale
Displayed in moving pictures
There's a radio that's playing
But it's only making noise
Just like anyone of all our Hundred, pointless modern toys

They tell me
Everybody's happy
You better not guess
The people's minds
They say, every Story shows two sides
So, things are not Simple, sometimes

Old carved stone recalls the lost
And arcane, forbidden joys
But it's hard to see the sequence
Low signal and too much noise
Along endless wanderings of time
The way our story goes
Connected and declining like
Ten-thousand, tumbling dominoes

Somewhere there's a hero
And some character being that bad
But no story's ever stranger than
The strangest dream I've had Colour wrapping history
In old time memories impressed
Like legends in a candy jar
Some seem sweeter than the rest

830. Summer Nights Dreams

Can't see the words
My eyes are reading
Don't know where my Thoughts are leading Desire, my pet beast
Needs feeding
Wounds you cut they Won't stop bleeding
Hear my cries, my claims,
My pleading
Don't you feel the Need I'm needing?

The summer nights dreams
Are stolen away
By sleep, it's a thief
The weather has the heat
Of a lover's embrace
I feel no relief
The yawns of an ocean
Awash on my dreams
Like lullabies sing
The breeze like temptation
Is yearning so soft
So cool on the skin

Seeds lie dormant
Dropped in shade
Pleas of love are Sworn and made
Hearts are worn
And made to trade
The scars of love
Forlorn they fade
Bleed wounds so deep
The price is paid
Distance, time
The tourniquet

831. Feeling Better Already

Love is ultimate danger
Oh, the trouble it brings
Why are our hearts made for doing
Oh, such dangerous things?

We were gonna fly
From a mountain
Once we made up some wings
From wood, glue and paper
And tiny pieces of strings

She said goodbye
To my surprise
I thought that
We were going steady
Another pretty girl
Pretty smile
I think I am feeling
Much better already

Love moves like a pendulum
To hypnotise as it swings
Lately, I miss all its pleasures
Though, I get all its stings

If I'm gonna rule
Over my heart
Need the power of kings
Dam those emotional wells
From wherever love springs

832. On A Treadmill

Moving light on stained glass
Colour shadows on a wall
Tripping on the edge of it
And suddenly we fall
All the written moments
Tumbling images unfold
Reaching for a rope of time
We cannot catch or hold

Running on a treadmill
Wverything is moving round
We better just keep running
If we stop
We're falling down

Everything goes sliiping by
Must we run against our will?
Everyday we're running still

Echoes sing across the space
Our footsteps rise and fall
Racing down a tunnel
The winds of time still call
Chance two strangers meeting Lost runners passing by Tuning all our questions
For some answer from the sky

833. Locks And Keys

While time is drawn and twisted
Wound upon the spinner's frame
What divides the magic world
Makes the rules that make the game
As ideas spark the tinder's grain
Any dream can set the flame

We're entranced by mysteries
The symmetries of locks and keys
The destinies of love's disease
Trust to chance no guarantees
For wicked time is bound to seize
Our broken links of six degrees
And bind us all with expertise

It adds up to the very same
Drown your head in liquid air
Anywhere and anyway
Happy little magic square
All thoughts I think perhaps There's really nothing there

834. Careless

Do you remember on the beach
How we counted all those ships
How you made me wait all night
To see our satellite eclipsed
Forever on my mind there stays
Your careless kisses on my lips

Careless days of waiting
For the future to arrive Careless hours wishing
For our dreams to come alive

Careless with our hearts
Thinking more was never less
Careless seeking motion
And never needing any rest

We believed in everything
And we never needed proof
Made sentimental sacrifice
Just for the holy name of truth
Forever on our minds there live
The careless traces of our youth

835. Days Go By

We star gaze on the sky at nights
Wonder what worlds ring those lights
Such distance makes for rare insights
Scares us all to take such flights

We sail out on the sea at nights
Let the wind fill sails like wind blows kites
Such power makes for rare insights
Tempts us all to take such flights

We hope our lives
Are ruled by fate
That good things come
To those who wait
Under the sky
We sit and contemplate
The days go by

We toss on dreams all made of frights
Hold wide eyes tight to hide such sights
Fear and dread builds awful heights
Scares us all to take such flights

We sleep on dreams of rare delights
And hope our eyes might see such sights
Such fantasy makes dizzy heights

836. Up Below, Down Above

Up in heaven
Not everybody's wise
The sun is getting up
No angel wants to rise and shine
Everybody's tired
There's a cloud or two
In paradise
They always get the silver side
Bet they miss the rain sometimes
And today might be the day
I wonder if they pray
Everyone gets down in heaven
Feels the other way

Yes, I know
The pain of love
That any life provides They're up below
They're down above
There's a distance that divides

Well I'm going either way
So I'm not taking sides
Sometimes I thank my maker
For the good that he provides Sometimes I thank the devil
For the bad things I have tried

While deep in hell
With no sleeping pills
The night is coming down
Lost souls dance by the firelight
Not only tears are cried
There's some fun or two
In Devil's Ville
They sometimes like that darker side
They get happy there all right
And today they find a way
You wonder when I say
Everyone gets happy in Hell
On some other day

837. Oh My Gemini

I was reading all about you
In your horoscope last night
They said you're fickle in your love
Do you think they might be right?

You're adaptable and curious
And bright and quickly witted
You're changing and you're restless
And strangely non-committed

You're a star
Made of the sky
Do you think
The stars would lie?

You're a star
Made of the sky
Do you think
The stars would lie?

You quite easily imagine
You can reason what is real
You're ruled by words and logic
And not by what you feel

Yes, love is sometimes tragic
Doesn't have to lead to glory
Our tale could end two ways
You read both sides of the story

Your words express so clearly
With analytical precision
You reason very carefully
Prone to making no decision

Do you believe the way of hearts
Are guided by the stars above?
They say you love to learn
But could you learn to love?

838. Edge Of My Next Disaster

There's no reason to lay
With you here in my bed
Touching these pictures
I've drawn in my head
I'm losing my reason
Each day that I wake
You're making me make These words that I make

Distracting I stare
Highlights in her hair
I want her here
And ot over there
I should probably ask her
Doesn't matter
It's faster
If I close my eyes
She is standing right there
On the edge of my Next disaster

You looked amazing
I've gone dizzy, I'm faint
You guessed it I guess
I'm more devil than saint
Still scared when I think
Of what it might it bring
Are these that words I sing
Just some fantasy thing

I'm not sure of a path
To take with this girl
But ideas in my head
Spin around in a whirl
There's no way to resist
And no clear defence
There is just suspense
Seldom common sense

839. Don't You Believe?

Your eyes artful as black night
I want to lay with you
Down in your sleep
Slinking into your midnight
Sneak into your dreams for a peep

I'm crazy for you
It feels like
I'm moving way too fast
It may just be the times
I'm still bubbling
Like sparkles in wines
A dove in the sky
Wedding cars going past
In the signs?

I thought you were leading me
I recall you holding Tight on my hand
Your pretty picture with me
All day in my fantasy land

Your false hopes lay before me
Like jilted promises of A red-lit dawn
Doomed sailors on the sea
We're gone sailing into the storm

840. Numbering Our Days

You went out in Eden
You were talking to the snake
I had to find a coffee shop
To keep my eyes awake

Drinking cups of caffeine
Makes me make mistakes
It takes my thinking fast
When you come in from the garden
You can stay
You'll know a way
To make these feelings last

Lot of people want to help you
Lose your innocence
We can count the ways
But I don't want to spend
The hours now
Just numbering our days

The flora in the garden
So so green it looks alright
But you better watch the fauna
Creepy crawlies like to bite

Alcohol affects me
Lowers my defence
It makes my thinking sane
When you're finished in the garden
Call my name
And then explain
How I can lower all the pain

841. Not Of The Flesh

Words leave your lips
Bullets from a gun
Hitting on their target
Counting, one by one

Like a stone on bone
Still leaves quite a mess
But remember
Wounds of the soul
Are not of the flesh

You're stealing my hand
Calling for a priest
Chasing your horizon
Sailing out to east

Moving with the groove
Wind bites bitter west
But remember
Wounds of the soul

Fear scent of hunting
Hounds will be released
The chasing will begin
Seeking for the beast

So go feed the need
Bodily obsessed
But remember
Wounds of the soul

842. Some Things that Fly

It's just like I'm A child again
I'm making paper planes
I'm imagining
By the billabong
Dragons skim the water
Hunting on the wing

And there's a lot of space
In the great blue sky
And I've got envy
For some things that fly

Ah the world is wide
And the sun
Is speeding quickly
Across the sky today
Oh, time is short
Why would a star worry?
It's kind of hard to say

I'm on earth
I see, coloured wings
Drinking nectar
From the summer flowers
Thinking heaven is high
I want to climb a mountain
Meet the highest powers

Gravity is heavy
It sure weighs
On my feelings
It's holding me down
But how I like to wish
That my heart had wings
To get it around

843. Hide And Seek

Down to the temple
The love pilgrims flock
Looking for clues
Under sacrifice rock

Bring your curious heart
Come hunt here alone
Look for a treasure
Under the love stone

My heart is hiding
But don't be mistook
Count to a hundred?
Are you ready to look?

Come look
For my feelings
Love's hide and seek Don't look through Your fingers
Sneaking a peek
Give it a shot
Count it up then
Coming ready or not?

Candles are burning
They flicker in flame
Shadows are dancing
You're calling my name

I'm afraid to be here
All on my own
You're getting so warm
I'm not running home

No, I will stay waiting
Wherever love hides
You'll find me here soon
If you open your eyes

(No sneaking a peeking!)
(Hiding and seeking)

844. My Pets

I gave away my pet giraffe
Goodness me, you have to laugh
He was much too big by half

I gave away my wildebeest
Last I saw he headed east

I gave away my tiger too
He ate a man I never knew

My gorilla busted up his cage
He smashed it in a fit of rage

My whale grew and left a hole
In my favourite goldfish bowl

My turtle never did improve
It wasn't fair she wouldn't move

My vampire bat made me a wreck
Kept biting holes into my neck

My octopus caused great alarms
He hugged my mum with all his arms

My rhinoceros would hang with spies
Disappeared while in disguise

My ostrich made a silly sound
Then stuck his head into the ground

My brave brown bull got rather queer
And started drinking too much beer

My milky cow I just out grew her
All she did was make manure

My kangaroo she left too soon
They say she leapt up to the moon!

My echidna caused me some surprise
I sat on her, yes most unwise

My mighty mouse just scared away
All the girls that came to play

My stick insect he broke in two
I joined him up with super glue

My pet the pig he stuffed his lips
And gobbled up all my chips

My frog he jumped as frogs will do
He jumped his way to Timbuktu

My dragonfly he lacked control
Alas he smacked a tele-pole

My lady beetle flew from me
To find a flower, c'est la vie

My elephant it lost the plot
And tied its trunk into a knot

My snail ran off against my will
I guess it's off and running still

My jaguar so sleek and black
Ran much faster, came not back

My crocodile went west a while
I didn't really trust his smile

My zebra wasn't quite my type
I wasn't over fond of stripe

My lama left as you might guess
Good riddance to the little pest

My orangutang was much too hairy
My cobra snake was much too scary
This time
Think I'll buy a pet canary

845. All Of You

I loved the way we talked
On that Saturday eve
We were eye to eye
I wanted you to stay
But I know you had to leave

Oh my girl
I've travelled all
The widest world
I don't know what to do
My thoughts always return
And they are all of you

I lay down tired
Restless in my dreams
My hopes all fevered through
My thoughts always return
And they seem all of you

I loved the way we danced
On that Saturday night
There's is a power
I feel when you are near
But I don't know if it's right

I loved the way you laughed
It's goodbye for a while
I want to hold you
And have I told you
There's a power in your smile

846. Laughter Girl

Self pity's a bore
I feel a sad day
I'm not fun anymore
I don't want to play
I don't want to work
Ah the day hurts

Sky starting to fall
Into the last night
The wherewithal
Gets lost to the light
Falling down on to me
Nothing is free

Oh buy me a flower
Hand me the sun
I worked all the day
But the working's not done
It's a worry-filled world
Take me down
To the laughter-girl
She knows how to play
How to skip
How to run
I need to be happy
Take me down
To the laughter-girl
I need to have fun

How I got to sing
For my butterfly
Crazy colours on wing
Across the day sky
Dark minor eclipse
My butterfly skips

You dance to the song
Chasing the wind
Start singing along
Head starting to spin
The sun fire burns
This crazy world turns

847. Like I'm The Sky

She loves me like it's meant to be
Like I'm the sky and she's the sea
She loves me and I can't deny
That she's the sea and I'm the sky

She runs so wild she runs so free
Loves me wild like waves on sea
She meets me when the sun is high
And looks down on the sea from sky

She loves me she was made for me
Like the sky was made above the sea
She loves me she won't say goodbye
There will ever be the sea and sky

Comes the time when the day must flee
But no time will part the sky and sea
She will stay until the sun must die
Into the sea down from the sky

She loves me like it's meant to be
Like I'm the sky and she's the sea
She loves me and I can't deny
That she's the sea and I'm the sky

848. Bygone Days

A penny for your thoughts
What is on your mind?
I had a thought of Distant times
And distant lands
Forgotten friends of mine

Somewhere I hear music
The noise as children play
The sound just somehow
Makes me think
Of all those bygone days

It made me wonder
Out aloud
How did things occur?
I try to recall
And shudder to think
Of the way
That we once were
How did we make it
To this point?
How did things occur?

I can hear an old song
Some radio it plays
It takes me back through Memory days
Reminds me so
Old history replays

I recall some laughter
Games of forgotten ways
Time returns somehow

849. Sum Of Sorrows

I read love is made from faith and joy
Maybe sweet despair some nights
These other things I'm needing
I read we're all imprisoned angels
Reaching back for the lights
I must stop all this reading

Another day begins
Waiting in these Winter winds
For the summers
Of tomorrows
Counting up
Disappointments
We all become
A sum of sorrows

You said our sadness is a lesson
Has a complicated way
That is teaching us to learn
You said while we want for happiness
Only need to wait a day
Watch our wheel of fortune turn

I'm searching for the promised message
That one day our world aligns
And console myself I guess
Designing complicated systems
And collecting faded signs
Just to find my happiness

850. Speed Of Time

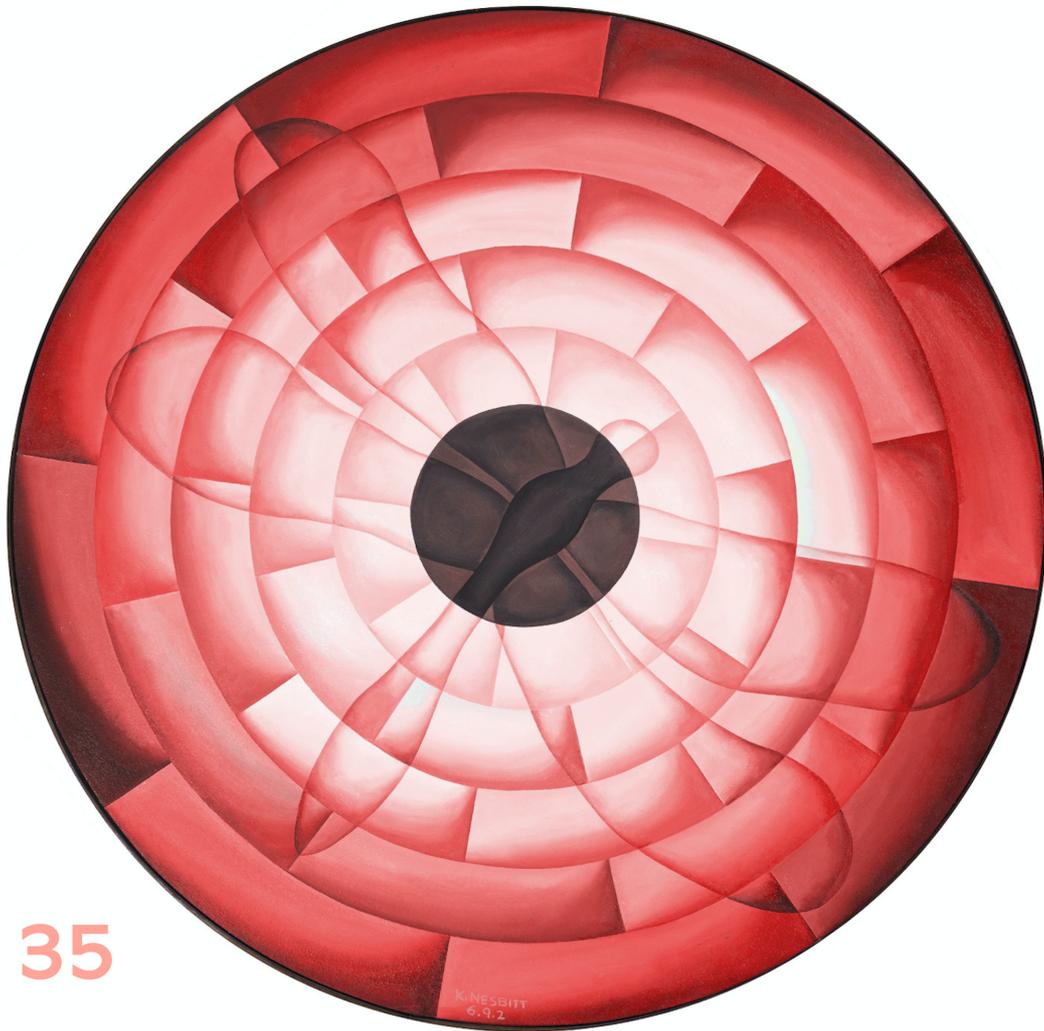

Darkness descends
Moon climbing high
Ascending into Blackest of skies
Faintly, radio plays
Strangely familiar
Old-fashion tune
I drove to the sea
Aimed east
For the moon

Freed by my night
Throw away minutes
No thought of a crime
Everybody knows
The speed of the light
But what is the speed of time?
What is the speed of time?

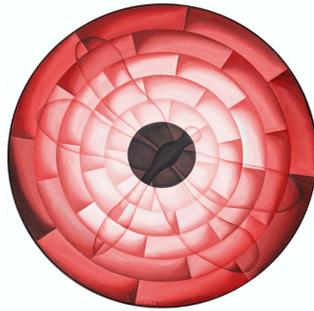

Changing with time
Slowly misplaced
Lost out in space
Keeping a handful
Secreting moments
Out of my mind
Marked by the moon
Scattering thoughts
Across time

Closing my eyes
Sleeping one night
Night is a year
Even one life
Listen a while
Beat of the sea
Tides onto land
And measure lost time
By the waves
On the sand

851. Pockets Full Of Time

Another night of stars on black
I had a drink, or three or two
I felt like I was anyone's
And so anyone would do
But no one seemed to want me
That is, anyone but you

You spoke to me a lot of words
So hard to find the meaning
Found madness in your eyes
Faint scattered bits of dreaming

Your mind got in my head
It was never really clear
What you hoped to find
You were trying to Trade some memories
That you had on your mind
But all I had to pay you with
Were pockets full of time

Well, you told me your life story
In truth there wasn't much to tell Lately you'd been bothered by Dreams of a fallen angel
Demons under broken moonlight
And your lover's last farewell

We crawled over the abyss
We inched across a tight rope
Balanced by our hearts
Our heads heavy with our hope

You had a chart for the future
Drawn on a single paper scrap
With a narrow way through mountains
Quite a good place for a trap
Showed dragons on the border
They're all laid out on your map

I hope you left some memories
That will linger on my mind
For you sure did empty out
All my pockets full of time

852. Loud

When I dreamed your picture
It made music in my mind
I had to write a song for you
Even if it took a lot of time

I was looking for a higher tone
As I struck a string of steel
I didn't have a lot of words
Just a quaint romantic feel

The night bar is a melee
Everybody making words
Who knows what they say
It's gets noisy in a crowd
If I want to tell you how I feel
I better make it loud

The rhythm was a quake that
Would kind of shake the devil
Blacksmith hammer hitting metal
With the loudness up a level

When I heard the melody
The notes like birds they soared
But my fingers started fumbling
And I couldn't find the chord

853. Query

Read lock me with our eyes
Running a little query?
They say on-to-one is fun
Rollback if you wish
No need to commit
Love's an unsafe query
And solution equals none

I'm a foreign race
I am all so very alien
And unexpectedly removed
Like an asteroid
Uncharted void
Interplanetary space
Primary key me with your touch
Query me very slowly Integrate me wholly
Into your knowledge base

Logically - I think you like
My joining attributes
The schema seems complete
No partial dependencies
My entity relations
Are all in normal form
I'm deadlocked by your feet

854. Tendency For Kindness

I told you I'm Gonna drop by Last time I saw you
I was so high
That's how I looked Maybe it was whiskey
Some powder that I took

I made you laugh
Perhaps you liked me
Better not analyse
I remember you were pretty
Or smoke was in my eyes

I read it in a book
Loving's like hating
Enemy or friend
They both tend
To be mindless
Do not deny
Pretend
You don't have this Urge to kill me
With your tendency
For kindness

Starting to think
Never will land
You took my higher
Touching my hand
Did I get misled
Path only of moonlight
With no clear way ahead

Recall that you
Spoke with your eyes
Before I fell asleep
I got a meaning clearly
Was it just double speak

855. Ghost Road

That spirit mist descended
Road sign said ghosts ahead
I chased another demon and that devil's eyes were red

I turned the music louder
To wake the ghosts from bed
When the last horizon ended
I had to feel way ahead

I was waiting for an image
But the vision never showed Lost along the ghost road
A projection to horizon
The turn I could not find
Yet all the signs forbode
Maybe it was lost in time
Hidden on the ghost road

Riding on the time beast
The dark night like an ocean
Ghosts all flickered passed me
Swallowed by the motion

There the moment ceased to be Like make believe pretended
And sky went red above the sea
As another day got rendered

856. Yesterday's Head

Humming a tune
As best as I could Strumming along on
The wires on wood

The seaweed is salty
And waving away
The twin of the night
Is known as the day

The sky's looking dead
Covered in cloud
I'm still lying in bed
Rolling in sorry
Sheet for a shroud
Tell me tomorrow
What I have said
Better speak loud
There's lots of noise
From yesterday's head

Surfing the surge
Waves in the ocean
Fast running tide
Wild water in motion

Awash in a sea
Swimming to shore
Feeling a bit like
I've been here before

Broken up thoughts
Joining the dots
Jumble of lines
Tangled in knots

Speaking is spoken
And lost in the tense
Everything crazy
And making no sense

857. Alligator Dreams

Run into the jungle
Where the wild beasts prey
Lurking in the shadows
Smell the scent of fear, decay
Can you swim across the river
Where the alligators play?
Predators of feeling chasing you
Now there's no time for delay

There's a faint recurring theme
Emotion is a jungle hiding
Deep subconscious scenes
Now you're sinking in the streams
Of your alligator dreams

Toes into the water
Where the feelings warm
Lurking in the shallows
Now a darker shadow forms
You can feel its hunger
There's a fear of being torn They'll rip apart your feelings and you
You'll get flooded by the storm

858. Road To The Ocean

Found you hanging round
With the snake oil vendor
Checking your make-up in A shiny truck fender

You gonna hang around here
Feel that slow, urgent slide
Into unnamed forever, or Do you want go for a ride?

I'm tired of all this turning Aimless
Endless motion
Let's make a target for the sun
Take a road to the ocean

Leave the carnival light
Stand a little nearer to me
Share a secret
Between my shadow
And any light you can see

You laughed at nothing
Your cigarettes smelt funny
Naughty warm hands trying
To pick pocket my money

You can take everything
I will promise you plenty
But I think you will find that
All my pockets are empty

And I felt a destiny in
The moon's thin smile of light
When I told you, you laughed
Said, it's just a satellite

I said, I feel the stars magic Painted on heavens ceiling
I'm not being scientific
Just explaining a feeling

859. Mount Panorama

The morning feels cold
No day to get lost
Every step that I take Leaves prints in the frost

She's my panorama
An ever-widening view
The source of all my possibilities
Everything I'll ever do

I like the way her curves rise
Led me to the skies
Every corner, every bend
Reveals a surprise

I like to wrap around her
Until we are only one Either it's the last lap
Or the journey's begun

860. Headlong Into Happiness

I'm a spaceman on a journey
In the darkness of my head
But it's lonely in those spaces
And I'm almost scared to tread

There's seldom any gravity
And nowhere I can land
There's no signpost to the stars
And the future isn't planned

The black hole of uncertainty
Is dragging me along
I'm scared to death of aliens
And the thought I don't belong

Rushing headlong into happiness
It's a foolish thing I know
But I'm daring to be different
And I lost the map to sadness
So there's nowhere else to go

I wasted opportunity
When I was young and wise
I could see the future coming
Still it took me by surprise

I was brave and foolish
Never scared of time or power
I should have used each moment
But I wasted every hour

I spent my love unwisely
But saved some for a rainy day
My radar found your stormy soul
I think it's blowing hard my way

861. Spending Time

You were told the spark of arced electrons
Can take away your madness
You hooked your mind up to the voltage
To electrocute your sadness

Quickly polish up the gleaming engines
Made from scientific dreams
I guess technology's a strange pursuit
Oh how we worship the machines

Every thought of yours
Is blending into mine
Always running uphill
But tending to decline
Another night attacking on
The dusk defending line
Acting like we're rich with days
And always spending time

Capture images that race across the air
I'm chained before the beast
I am glad the pictures come with voices
It makes a tele-visual feast

Wherever do the sound and pictures go?
what about their vacant souls
Lost, fly forever across the ether
Then vanish into blacker holes

862. Better Than The Best

How real it sometimes seems
The visions they foretell
There's something strange in dreams

In the mountains wild, unknown
I was dreaming for a heart for me
I was wandering alone

I'm dreaming
Can you hear the cries
Of me wishing in my sleep
Last night
The sadness washed my eyes
Like the pain had come from deep

Where do dreams begin?
From the summers of joy
From the winters of my grief
From the autumns of change
From the springs of my relief

It happened in a flash
Lightning struck my mountain
Heard the thunder made a crash

With a head of magic voices
Ghosts rose and spirits walked
While Fate took away my choices

You're dreaming
I can hear your cries
Of you wishing in your sleep
Last night
The laughter blessed your eyes
Like the pleasure came from deep

Where do dreams begin?
Oh, the things I have to know
How the sun sinks to the west
After you, there'll never be
Some one better than the best

863. Delirium

Eye of emerald
Eye of blue
Your shape
Is shadows hue

Idea's form is endless
Endless are the ways
Like Delirium is endless
And endless are the days

Let me sleep oh Sandman
There is one thing on my mind
Delight is gone beyond me
And I do not measure time
Oh I dare not measure time

Velvet shades
Of faint outline
Truth and tragedy
Entwine

Scent of sweat and sour wine
Leather of the beast
Hint of flesh and shadow
The lateness of the feast

864. Freedom

When it's raining in the sky
And the sun's away somewhere
Thoughts turn to far away places
And you wish that you were there

And if I could find an empty sea
Write alone upon it's waves
But I know it's just another freedom
That I'm never gonna save

Freedom was a thing or two
A little less or more of you
A light shining
Shining in the night
Or sunshine fallen bright
Too bright a light to see
Freedom for a moment
Seems to mean a lot to me

Hope I've been a better lover
Than I've ever been a friend
The road it gets so winding
Wonder if our love will end

And if I could find eternal night
Or illusive, endless day
That wont ever come my way

865. Sad Irish Song

Here's a sad Irish song
For the sad Irish girl
It's a long way to the other
Dark side of the world

She waits by the sea
In the winter's sunshine
And her heart dies away
One small piece at a time

The storm's in her hair
There's she's happy to be Alone on the sand
While her lover's at sea

On the sad Irish sea
Her sailor has died
While the sad Irish girl
Waits his lonely bride

Here's a sad Irish song
It's a long way to the other

What waves on what sea?
Who knows where you ride
Since your lost ship sailed
On the last ever tide

By the sad Irish sea
She'll forever abide
'Til her sad spirit rests
Once more by your side

You may rest in heaven
Or maybe there's hell
She will be there with you
On her last farewell

Here's a sad Irish song
It's a long way to the other

866. Anytime She Smiles

When the sky is sad
Let the rain drops fall
Let the clouds float by Let the sad sky cry
I don't care at all

Running so fast
Out of control
Skidding like a racing car

My thoughts run wild
They run so far
They run so far
Like a million miles
They run away
Anytime she smiles

Your eyes so wide
Makes you seem so wise
I'm deep down in their well
Deep under their spell
Like a curious child

Drawing me in
Tempting like a cookie jar

My thoughts run wild
They run so far
They run so far
Like a million miles
They run away
Anytime she smiles

When the day's in doubt
Let the night-time crawl
Get the moon about
Let the stars come out
And let the whole sky fall

Exploding apart
Out of control
Bursting like a nova star

My thoughts run wild
They run so far
They run so far
Like a million miles
They run away

867. Winter With The Snow

Spent all my money
Wouldn't you know
Warm eyed smile
And a whiskey glow
So cold outside there's
No place to go

Drinking bourbon
Thinking real slow
Pretty ice angel
Do not you say no
Ice with the bourbon
And winter with snow

Hey there's no fool like the old fool
And no fool like a loving man
Do anything to impress you Doing anything I can

Why don't you buy me one more drink?
Maybe I'll say a funny joke
Hey we can dance and we can sing
And let me borrow a smoke

Spent all my money
And a whiskey glow
No place to go

Drinking bourbon

868. I Want To Win Her Hand

I want to hold her near
She starts
Familiar strange fires of love, I fear

I want to win her hand
I want to have her near
She smiles
My heart turns light with
The weight, of tears

She might make me her man
She must make me her man
Beside in white she will stand
Besides I'll win if I plan

Love rings alarms, Oh
You'll come to no harm
Come dance be safe in my arms
Come dance be safe in my arms

I was alone?
No man around
Now there is two

I go dizzy, feel lost
Seem anxious, uncertain it's true
I don't know what road to pursue

Sweet melody
Moon made romance
Bittersweet destiny
No luck this lover's chance
Be near to me - go with the dance

I wait for my time, while it
Seeps like the sand
I want to win, to win, her hand
Claim you mine forever all of time

869. Send Me On A Quest

Can't you see my eyes?
 Don't you hear the pounding
 Of the heart within my breast?
 These are not just musings
 Of some foolish lovesick bard
 Send me on a quest
 No task could be too hard!

Make me catch a nightingale
 The one with the sweetest song
 I'll turn back your enemies
 However, they have wronged
 I'm sure they have no army
 That's as brave as me or strong
 I'll toil at all my labour
 Like the summer days are long

Your love I'll ever earn
 Send me on a quest
 Can't you feel my fire burn?
 I'll surely earn your love
 You know I will return

Make me slay the
 Many-headed beast
 Who is taking maidens for his meal
 I will return with all his bright eyes
 To demonstrate aloud for you
 That my quest has been for real

Make me scale the Steepest mountain peak
 Where grows the rare-scented flower
 Too simple such a dangerous search?
 Then please constrain me if you wish
 I'll finish back by the hour

Can't you see my eyes?
 Don't you hear the pounding
 Of the heart within my breast?
 These are not just musings
 Send me on a quest
 No task could be too hard!

I'll entreat every mountain
 Till it sings your praise out loud
 I'll bask within your beauty
 Sure no man could be as proud
 I'll build for you a sky road
 Even though it's not allowed
 One crossing heavens breadth
 Connecting every cloud

Your love I'll ever earn
 Send me on a quest
 Can't you feel my fire burn?
 You know I will return

Make me forge a
 Sword of stainless iron
 Among the fires that heat up hell
 I shall battle wild nameless demons
 And return before you miss me
 With a thousand tales to tell

Make me seek for
 Gold and flawless jewels
 Among the caverns beneath the earth
 I shall lay such gems about your feet
 For these treasures are but nothing
 As to what your love is worth

870. Splinters Of Stars

Are you sad?
You feel an end?
Are those splinters of tears I see?
You don't have to tell
We'll pretend they are Splinters of stars that fell
They look the same to me

They say
Splinters of stars that fall
Become diamonds
That shine upon your hand
We shall take
Your splinters of tears
And make
Of them a thing so grand

Let us cup them in our hands
Until our hands are filled
Let us mould them to some form
That splinters light to rainbows
These rare jewels you have spilled

We will not horde such treasures
We shall cast them into space
Where they catch the light forever
Outshining stars that even now
Stare from heaven's face

The night will fill with colour
And your tears will all run dry
With rare wonder for our work
For every star that ever fell
Will be returned to sky

871. Race Day In The Jungle

It was race day in the jungle
 And the sun was shining fine
 There were insects and animals
 And birds of every kind
 All had gathered so excited
 And were restless with the thrill
 There were to be great contests
 Of their athletic skill

Walking to the field
 You could see so many sports
 A python in the pole-vault
 Was tied up with his thoughts
 The green frog in the long jump
 Was covered all in warts
 The ostrich looked amazing
 In his brightly coloured shorts

The centipede was smirking
 He was sure he couldn't loose
 Provided he could find the time
 To tie up all his shoes
 It didn't really matter
 No one could match his pace
 And he was only entrant
 In the hundred-legged race

Six elephants lifted trunks
 Like trumpets to the sky
 They played a stirring melody
 That made God's creatures sigh
 It made the cruel old crocodile
 Lose a tear drop from his eye
 The sentimental spotted cow
 Just couldn't help but cry

Every animal was proud
 As proud as you could please
 The crowd was all a buzz
 Like that bunch of bumble bees
 The King lion was most proud
 Upon this special day
 He climbed up on the podium
 He had some words to say

"We must all keep in mind
 We are here to have some fun!"
 (His mane was brushed and curled
 And looking splendid in the sun)
 "It's not important if you lose
 Or even if you win
 It's just important you compete
 So let the games begin!"

First contest was the high jump
 And soon everybody knew
 Second came the leaping flea
 And first the kangaroo
 The ostrich didn't threaten
 She was just a flightless bird
 But she tried so hard surprisingly
 She managed to come third

The elephants were favourites
 In the greatest tug-of-war
 The rhinos were eliminated
 And they felt pretty sore
 For the winners came a cheer
 From the birds up in the sky
 A big, hip, hip, hooray
 For the hippopotami

The discus was a killer
 And the shotput was a thriller
 Both won again this year
 By the hairy great gorilla
 The cockroach won the tap dance
 On his clever little feet
 He'd been stepped on by a rhino
 And was lucky to compete

The primates were the best
 In all gymnasium events
 One monkey sure amazed me
 With the moves that he invents
 They were swinging from the rafters
 They were swinging from the rails
 While the possums got disqualified
 Caught swinging from their tails

The crowd had grown excited
As the day was nearly spent.
They knew there was to be
One last and final great event
A path had been created
Through the green of jungle space
Three miles of winding track
For the big cross-country race

There was a leopard and a lion
And a horse and zebra too
A nervous looking giraffe
Was doing up his shoe
There was a grizzly and koala
And a great white polar bear
Every animal you can't think of
Was represented there

There were bugs and squishy beetles
And some nameless crawly things
There were yellow bees and wasps
Furry spiders there with stings
The python looked so nervous
He was stiff and straight like pipe
The tiger looked so trim
In all black and orange stripe

An awkward looking ostrich
And a tiny little quail
The field mouse and the elephant
And a singing nightingale
Bats and blue-tongue lizards
And the African gnu
The tortoise and the hare of course
Were lining up there too

A platypus with flat duck bill
A wombat with a big behind
An ibis and a flying fox
And one of the walking kind
An aardvark and the anteater
And an Indonesian sloe
Every animal you can think of
And some you might not know

It looked like mayhem in the zoo
Or an organiser's bungle
But it was just the culmination
Of the race day in the jungle
The competitors were ready
Taut and tense and up on toe
Prepared to hear the starter yell
"Ready, set and go!"

They all began to run
When they heard the starter's cry
The sudden rush whirled up such dust
That it clouded out the sky
The sound was most like thunder
And the jungle floor just shook
But still the watchers clambered close
Just to catch a better look

You could see some slow to start
When at last the dust had cleared
While some were off and racing
And had nearly disappeared
Competitors were spread throughout
The green of jungle space
Across three miles of winding track
In the big cross-country race

The leopard he was building up
Quite a handsome lead
He of all the animals
Was built for grace and speed
The python now was hopeless
He had tied himself in knots
I guess he like the leopard
Just couldn't change his spots

The tortoise plodded on
And his face was all a grin
He was falling way behind
But he thought that he might win
He strolled along determined
With a dream of cheers and glory
He'd read the 'Tortoise and the Hare'
But forgot it's just a story

The rabbits sure were fast
On their little bunny toes
But being spring they were Distracted as everybody knows
They couldn't concentrate on racing
For they had such restless souls
They kept hopping off and playing
In their little bunny holes

The kangaroo hopped madly
As he swished about his tail
The aardvark looked determined
He was sure he wouldn't fail
The horse was running easily
It wasn't more than just a trot
While the pig was sweating furiously
And giving all he's got!

The bugs, the ducks, the monkeys
The bear, the beaver and the bats
The deer, the snakes, the spiders
And the fearless jungle cats
All were racing headlong
Just to try and gain a place

They were all together at the finish
Though they moved at different pace
Because I forgot to mention
They had handicapped this race
Which they needed to inspect
The giraffe was named the winner
He had won by just a neck

In the end some tired old animals
Showed signs of their duress
Though pleased with their results
Some had given all, some a little less
Some were bruised and battered
But no serious disfigurements
Just sore muscle, aches and pains
And the strain and stretch of ligaments

Everyone was making plans
To come again and win next year
To take their training serious
Stop drinking sparkle cheer
Some vowed to be much fitter
And some a little thinner
Though all sure felt contented
Because everyone's a winner

On the race day in the jungle
The sun rays slowly set
On a day the insects, animals
And birds were unlikely to forget
All were leaving so excited
Still so restless with the thrill
Of the day's enduring contests
Of their great athletic skill

872. Deep Valley Bridge

On the outskirts of the town
Lies deep valley bridge
On the mountain road
High above the river
You may have seen it?
Before the day
After the night
We could find the place
Between it!

Below the mountain ridge
There are shadows at the edges
Of deep valley bridge

And remember every high place
Is just a different view
I'll remember to be faithful
If you remember to be true

And remember every feeling
Is just a state of mind
So, remember to stay mindful
And I'll remember to be kind

I'm waiting on the east side
Of deep valley bridge
You stole my kisses
And yes you have my heart
Will you return it?
We have a hope
We keep a fire
We could cross the bridge
And burn it!

Below the mountain ridge
We could travel to the edges
Of deep valley bridge

And remember every melody
Is just a different song
I'll remember to be gentle
If you remember to be strong

And remember every new day
May see a change of mind
So, remember to stay searching
And keep whatever we can find

873. Wish It All The Time

I hope the weather's sunny
Dream the day is fine
Wish love was making more sense
Wish it all the time

I hope that I might see you
Dream that you are mine
Wish love was making more sense
Wish it all the time

I've hoped
And I've dreamed
Did I mention I wished
I'm writing down
I'm writing down
Something for our souls
A little shopping list

I'm playing through my mind
The lingered thought
Of your rare kisses
I'm writing down
I'm writing down
Your hopes
And your dreams
Did I mention
Your wishes?

I hope that you will want me
Dream you gave a sign
Wish it all the time

I hope our lives will cross
Dream you in my mind
Wish love was making more sense
Wish it all the time

874. Another Night Fall

Don't press me with questions
For when you are crazy
You can be sad and still smile
Don't talk of love's faded mystery Wouldn't you like to walk a while in the landscapes of history
Like a child here I stand
Watch the graves of our past
While they crumble, make sand

It's so hard to believe
You won't be here anymore
I know time changes
Runs away from us all
One more day and you leave Journey from my shore
We will be strangers
With another night fall?

Mark my spot with memory
You and I a small part
All the archives of the past
Only recall the nosiest few
The worlds big ship sailing fast
And we're forgotten crew
So build me not a shrine
People making pyramids
Are just wasting their time

875. Hell Of A Time

It was getting quite late
I'd been drinking a few
My mind's dwelt on desire
And lately I think
A too common view

I was questioning deep
Was I demon or man
When you stole my hand
Then you took me home
It was dark on that night
Quite frankly I think
You gave me, bit of a fright

You said, "Meet me in heaven"
Come and be mine?
Meet me in heaven
We could have
A hell of a time

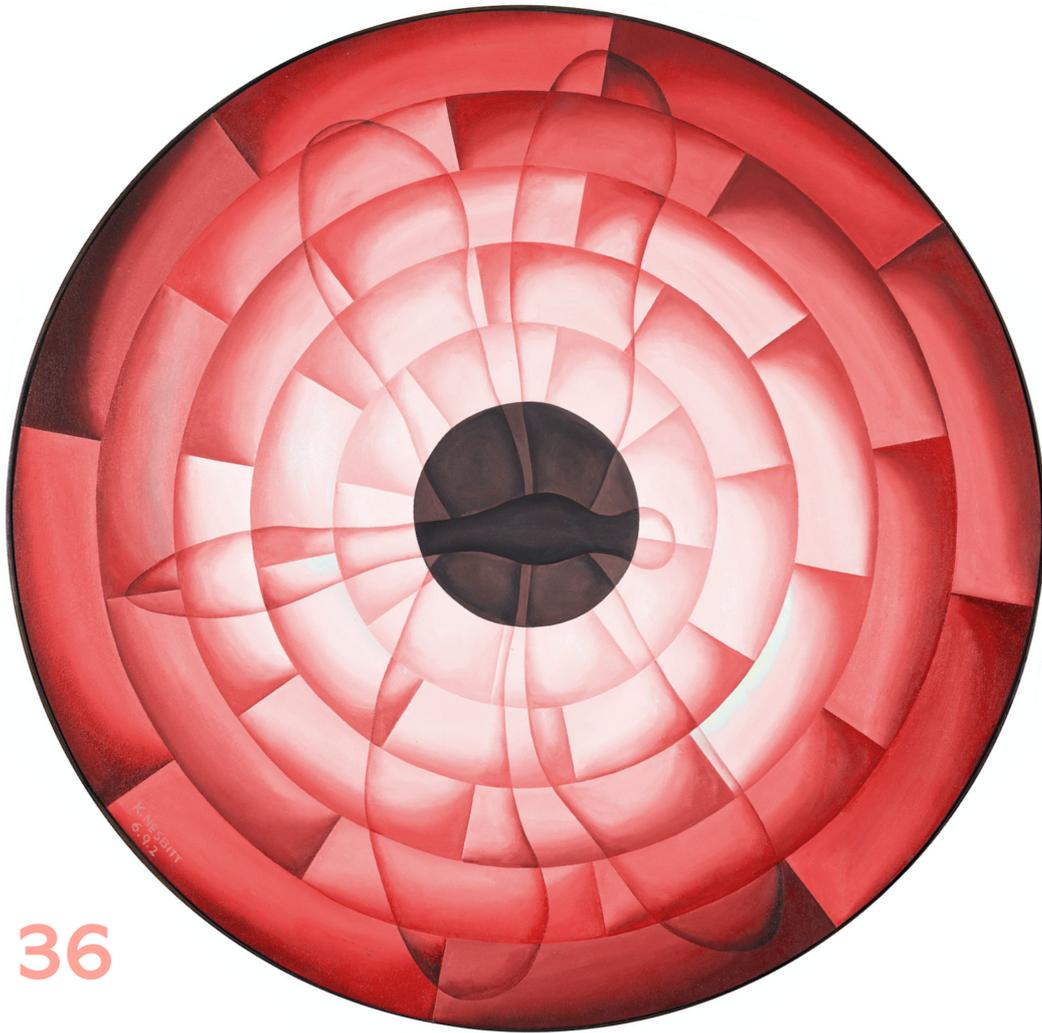

My door is not something
Lately I'm locking
If you want anymore
I warn you that You're knocking
On Lucifer's door

Or else, "Meet me in heaven"
Come and be mine?
Meet me in heaven
We could have
A hell of a time

I was feeling quite dark
For no reason I knew
I was open to ideas
And later I thought
You probably were too

There is a fine line drawn
Between some tragic sin
And letting trouble begin
And finding a home
Between dark and the light
Clear brightness of day
And the deep, shadows of night

876. Wherewithal

A whispered wish
In time's abyss
The hit and the miss
Of the reminisce
The thought of you
The stimulus
The broken pieces
Of random motion
As time stood still
And stopped at last
Like a waveless ocean
On a sea of glass

A bite of bliss
A stolen kiss
The wheel rolls round
Like this
You said we got lost
In the urban sprawl
I'd rather blame the decadence
Of just our lack of confidence
The wherewithal
Of it all
Of it all

A thought to say
The taste as sweet
As a candy kiss
My new word
For the day
Sweet kinesis
The summer burns
Your compass turns
The south and north
The back and forth
The up and down
The turnaround

877. Savage Drummer

Hands of pills and powder
Kind of nice to be sedated
Yes, that's another story
And it's very complicated

There's a tinkle like a tap
On a crazy xylophone
And it's playing on my nerves
Like a hammer on my bones

Hear that noise of silence
And it clatters like the rain
Beating up a music
From the madness in my brain
My head is dancing
And it's dancing like my feet
It's got a rhythmic fury
Like a savage drummer's beat

Finger on the button
And I'm gonna press the pause
Everything fast forwards
When my eyes get stuck in yours

There's a rattle and a crash
Like a danger's gonna come
There's a beating of the blood
Like that kicking on a drum

878. Your Ghost

The night is cold and icy
Your blankets hold me here
Like heavy chains
First light and your ghost has gone
Upon the frost again

And the world is grey
And the world is dead
It's a wonder your ghost
Is even out of bed

There's a promise of faint sun
To which my world is held
In gravity chains
News of the summer and a longer day
Hope is making footsteps
But winter still remains

879. Deepest Love

The sky was light and blue today
It seemed to reach forever
I held your hand and told you
Clouds are distant kingdoms
But you only laughed and said
It's just a change of weather

I'm looking for the sign Perhaps it's far above
Well maybe it's within Multiplying in our blood
I'm searching for the sign
Of only deepest love

It was good to see the light fade
For it meant that I could sleep
Lay your body near to me
Dreams are distant kingdoms
There's a high place I am seeking
But I know the way is steep

I'm drowning in a restless sleep
Deeper ocean where I sink
Just eight minutes from the sun
For the light to reach our eyes
So, I guess the dawn is coming
Maybe sooner than we think

880. Telekinesis

I can't explain her by science
She is out of this world
The great strange attractor
She's a mystery girl

Her eyes are a mirror
Like a dark looking glass
Move me to the future
And away from the past

She's got a strange presence
That takes you away
I'm moved to be near her
By night or by day

She is magnetic
My desire increases
She is telekinetic
She moves me to pieces

She's stopping the clocks
I can't tell the time
She's bending my spoons
She's moving my mind

I wrote my love in a letter
And I hid it away
But she knew what was in it
Before I could say

She's in touch with my spirit
I'm constantly thrilled
She is dark and she's made
With a medium build

She knows what I'm thinking
Before I begin
Is it good, is it bad?
Or evil, a sin?

She is prophetic
Our minds have a link
She is telepathetic
She knows what I think

She's telling my future
The way I'm inclined
She's sending me thoughts
She's reading my mind

881. Remedy

I feel the powers, divine
Have got a surprise
Tonight, there's a wild
Wind in your eyes

Don't you feel it too?
Like some powers, divine
Have left me here with you
Caught between lines
Parallel futures
In the tracks of time?

I'm guilty
I will plead
I need a remedy
For wantonness
For loneliness
For ecstasy
I will speed
Magically
Or Medically
To get a remedy

A feel a purpose, design
That no one denies
Winds in the skies

Let's let it all go
Lay back enjoy, and watch
The celestial show
Prophetic signs
Follow the futures
Laid out in our mind

882. How You Made Me Smile

Your love it seems to skip away
It stays one step ahead
And my hunger grows
With everyday
My hunger's never fed
What about hereafter
You'd say I wish away
My days until I'm dead

Today is moving
The shadow creeps
Along the sundial
No time to rest
A world to see
It could take a while Peace I may well find
But I will not forget
How you made me smile

Our time it seems like yesterday
It slips into the past
And my future speeds
By everyday
My future goes so fast
Well once upon a time
You said I while away
My days until the last

883. Eye On The Prize

A dreamboat went by
In the river it floated
Another wet fly
I obviously noted
Hungry I grabbed
For a bite of fish pie
And marshmallow clouds
Outlined in the sky

Love's hard to measure
Short or long?
There's no question of size
But a word to the wise
Crossing the line
Keep your eye on the prize

Surveyed the distance
The lay of the land
Added the price of
A bird in the hand
My request was a wish
And not a command
The devil he stole

884. Feelings In A Castle

I walk an old hill
Where the old castle lies
Hear a tuneless whistle
As the wind moans by

Followed some muse
Where my thoughts could fly
And the ageless rivers
Of the Rhine rolled by

My feelings in a castle
Sure you're my reward
Rusting in armour
Holding my sword

Stone sanctuary in sky
Climb your hills so steep Surrounded by water
Lying still and so deep

You would be my lady
I would be your lord
Share, all my plots
And my plans so flawed

My feelings in a castle
While our world makes war
I'm watching you cross
The cold river ford

A knight born to fight
Battle colours will fly
As enemy's arrows
Silhouette against sky

Once wounded in battle
I don't like to bleed
There's power in love
You're the ally I need

My feelings in a castle
All safe in the keep Undermined battlements
Supporting my sleep

885. Superman

There's a sea of feeling
I could sink into that sea
While it's rising
And it's raging
Like any stormy sea
I guess I'm not the man of steel
That I thought that I would be

Nothing much is gained
Like a shipwreck to the sea
The winter sun goes sinking
Superman is leaping buildings
My back is tired and sprained
My uniform is shrinking
I'm not fast like speeding bullets
And I can't even stop this train
Of thinking

Well, I'm not very brave
I'm frightened by the dangers
Light has fallen
I'm scared of dark
And scared of strangers
I guess I'm no superhero
Feared of simple changes

No I'm not a man of steel
When all been done and said
No Xray eyes
See through nothing
Can't even see ahead
I'm lying in my underwear
And I can't get out of bed

886. Beggar's Curse

It was nineteen ninety-nine
The only certain thing I knew
Soon they change the century
But what are we to do?

It was time I made a start
Let the future just unfold
Find tomorrow's path as
The new days were unrolled

Between the dark and the dawn
My dreams are getting worse
For seven years I've wandered
With this poor beggar's curse

On this nameless journey
I thought that I'd be strong
How I wandered aimless
So very far and very long

Along the winding roadside
I sought a kindred friend
But I was made to lonely
Before I neared the end

When I found you waiting
We shared the road a mile
Despite our changing way
We kept company a while

I hoped that you would stay
But you only left this pain
I stir up with my memory
Just to feel it once again

887. My Little Girl

See you've got a new dress
For your birthday party
Your kiss curl looks so sweet
Boys will want to talk to you
Tell you all their stories
And dance you off your feet

I like what you do with your hair
Oh it's such a pretty curl
Oh my little girl

Now it's twelve o'clock
You look pretty tired
You should slip into bed
Laid back on your pillows
Lacy soft, with your dreams
Beneath your busy head

There is a lot of things to do
Oh it's such a busy world
Oh my little girl

Is that a tear you cry?
Are you happy or sad?
You know I understand
It can get very dark
Out in this troubled place
But you can find my hand

Oh everything will be all right
Oh it's such a troubled world
Oh my little girl

Tidy up your doll house
And brush your pretty curls
Close your curtains too
All your birthday wishes
Each one you dare to name
Then I will make come true

Oh everything is wonderful
Oh it's such a wishing world
Oh my little girl

888. All That I Recall

I've heard space is wider than
A man can understand
The stars are distant places
They may hold a distant land
The universe is chaos
And the stars they race away
Like my thoughts of you
And the sleep in which I lay

We raced about the dark skies
Burning fuel and shining bright
Turning wild, uncaptured
Two more comets running night
The memories are small
I was young and I was crazy
And that's all that I recall

The sun is only one light
And there's many more the same
The worlds that spin the stars
Lie so distant without name
It's like the future, like the past
Everything is far away
Like my thoughts of you
And the sleep in which I lay

They say that near a dark star
Fleeting light cannot escape
Blackness draws in every ray
With rules that write its fate
Are these ghosts of yesterday
Drawn nearer when we run away?
Like my thoughts of you
And the sleep in which I lay

889. Mamma, Mamma

Mamma there is a girl, but it cannot be
Mamma she's kissing a boy I see
Mamma oh Mamma don't she want to kiss me?

Well, she's got secrets that she won't tell
But sometimes I think I know her mind so well
Mamma when she smiles I feel so strange
Mamma there's no key when your heart's in chains

Mamma there's no sense to how I feel today
Mamma I can't tell her there's no way
Mamma oh Mamma, Mamma, what would I say?

Well, she's got secrets that she won't tell
But sometimes I think I know her heart so well
Mamma when she looks in my eyes they're blue?
Mamma does she know, I keep secrets too

Mamma there's a girl, but it cannot be
Mamma she's kissing a boy I see
Mamma oh Mamma don't she want to kiss me?

890. Lover On A Crossroad

Right now, your guiding sun it sleeps
On the road where you would fly
So, in the arms of who-knows dreams
You curl asleep by fireside
You think upon a stranger's land
Where your question's answers lie

There's a torch upon your quiet soul
It burns, you bear some heavy load
Travel lonely on some journey
Where you seek a stranger's land

You'll met your lover on a crossroad
He will take your hand

Foretold you must seek to the west
For a glint in eyes that glowed
Fire's ember under twilight
You will find a stranger's land

You'll met your lover on a crossroad
He will take your hand

There's an unknown mark of danger
That he sees upon your palm
His eye's alight and open wide
And burn with strange alarm
He whispers to beware the road
Or you may come to harm

You wake tired and turn your back
To where the sun, your compass showed Walk straight until a mighty river
Made some flaw across your plan

You'll met your lover on a crossroad
He will take your hand

For you could not cross the river
For the river strong it flowed
Still far across the other side
You spied the stranger's land

You'll met your lover on a crossroad
He will take your hand

You rest beside the river's laugh
And search the lines upon your palm
Recall the meanings to his words
And feel a restless ship becalmed
Soft wind like lover's whispers
As they touch upon your arm

891. Doctor Sugar

Doctor Sugar
 Treat me sweet!
 Ain't it strange
 How lovers meet?
 I'm ailing for you
 Feeling so weak
 You make my heart
 Seem incomplete
 Doctor Sugar
 Please, please
 Treat me sweet

Haven't you got some ointments
 For all my disappointments?
 Yes, I've wallowed in a thousand ills
 Swallowed all of loves' bitter pills
 I've tried a million magic potions
 Rubbed myself with soothing lotions

So, hold my hand
 Take my pulse
 So faintly please
 Squeeze me now
 A little harder
 How you tease!

Doctor Sugar
 Eyes so wise!
 Hey don't you feel
 My fever rise?
 Prescribe for me
 Your sweet surprise
 Your heated breath
 In tiny sighs
 Doctor Sugar
 Oh-oh, Oh-oh
 Eyes so wise

Have you got a secret cure?
 For my blood feeling impure
 Take my temperature, I can wait
 Coming down with a lot of loves' ache
 There's a rush of heat inside my head
 Fix me quick and put me straight to bed

So, hold my hand
 Take my pulse
 So faintly please
 Squeeze me now
 How you tease!

892. Bottle Of Wine

I got drunk and I feel fine
I drank half a bottle of wine
I got home way past dawn
I ain't felt better since You've been gone

My glass half full
And so was I
I felt empty
When you said goodbye

Bottle of wine
Bottle of wine
I felt warm
Like I might win
Victory in this Battle of time

Too many thoughts on my mind
As more days go by, I'll feel fine
That's why I always say
I'm fighting to win this War with time

The moon was full
And so was I
I felt so lost
When you said goodbye

893. Belgian Rain

All the people
Gather round
Sea of noise
Goes around Moving in
So we surround
Soul blending in to
The dark background
The light beats
In time to sound
Your smile tempting
Leaves me spellbound

Head goes round
Get it off
Get it on
Get it down

Rock 'n roll concert in the Belgian rain
Techno beat thumping in my brain
Move my feet to a strange refrain
Rock 'n roll dance in the Belgian rain

Nothing much
That I can do
Too much to say
Can't talk to you

Get it off
Get it on
Get it down

All the water
Falling down
Sea of feelings
Closing round
Sinking in
So we could drown
Soul handed in to
The Lost and Found
The music beats
Begins to pound
Those eyes whisper
With unheard sound

894. Brain Wash

Brain wash, brain wash
Throw my mind into
The wash machine
Brain wash, brain wash
I had a dirty dream
Brain wash, brain wash
Better get it nice and clean

I'm feeling almost nauseous
Will the unspoken words between us
Never end up stated?

Oh clean, shiny tiny brain
Dirty water full of thoughts
Pumping to the drain
Gurgle down, down, down

Oh my wet and soggy liar
Now I got to make you dry
Brain into the tumble dryer
Going round, round, round

Brain wash, brain wash
Throw my mind into
The wash machine
Brain wash, brain wash
I had a dirty dream
Brain wash, brain wash
Better get it nice and clean

Will the hunger of the feeling
Never quite be sated?
Will the wanton hope of thinking
Ever get sedated?

Oh clean, shiny tiny brain
Dirty water full of thoughts
Pumping to the drain
Gurgle down, down, down

Oh my wet and soggy liar
Now I got to make you dry
Brain into the tumble dryer

895. Tunnels Of Time

We can talk to the ghosts
All the ghosts of the past
But the hours will race
So you better talk fast

The world's not the way
The way we believe
There's only the shadows
The things we perceive

We run through the tunnels
The tunnels of time
Following visions
Fearing the future
Leaves us behind

We run through the tunnels
Second sight blind
Picking up treasures
Treasures we find
We run through the tunnels
Tunnels of time

You look at me deeply
Like I'm telling you lies
What hope do you see
In your mystical skies?

You can read in a book
All the ways of wise
But meanings are lost
And truth is disguised

896. Simple Wonders

Everything is changing
Going so good so far
Yesterday, I threw away
My chart made of the heavens
I don't have the time to know the stars
All those little shining flames
I hope somebody cares
Takes the time to give you names

I can't see into
Your eyes so dark
They offer up no light
But oh tonight
The moon will come up full
Those two black holes
The simple wonders of your eyes
They certainly do amaze
I'm dragged into their gaze
Like gravity will pull
The simple wonders of your eyes
Will occupy my days

My need has grown to longing
It looks like storming
So forecast comes to pass
Charted by the weatherman
I don't have time for every warning
All those fickle shifting winds
I hope somebody cares
Notes the speeds of all your spins

No common sense to loving
No bravery, no glory
Maybe well the stars foretell
Charted on my horoscope
But who has time for every story
Perhaps the future's running late
I hope somebody cares
Learns the meanings of our fate

897. It's A Jungle

The elephants don't like me!
I can't go to the zoo
I don't know what I did!
I was just a kid

And the city roads
Are paved with beasts
And I can hear them roar
Not the lion
Not the tiger
It's the charge of the giant boar
But I don't care

It's a jungle
It's a jungle
It's a jungle, out there!

I don't like the elephants!
It evens out the score
It's a simple thing I say
My colour ain't grey

And the city beasts
Devour by the hour
Any soul that shows a spark
Not the kind
Of place to be
As their hearts return to dark
And it's not fair

It's a jungle
It's a jungle
It's a jungle, out there!

898. Santa Clauses

I saw something strange on Friday night
It was only just last week
There were seven hundred Santa Clauses
All standing in the street
They were laughing, singing, drinking beer
Going, "Ho, Ho, Ho" with Christmas cheer

They wore the beards
They wore the boots
They wore the red and White-trimmed suits
And some were big
And some were small
But everyone of them was thirsty
On the Santa Claus pub crawl

Now a better looking bunch of jolly men
You'd unlikely ever meet
"Hello, Santa". "Hello, Santa", I heard
Anytime that two would greet
Now the children woke to see this sight
Hearing "Ho, Ho, Ho" all merry night

No parent could explain away the mystery
Loudly prancing up their street
There were seven hundred Santa Clauses
All dancing in the street
They were dancing, tripping, falling down
Yelling, "Ho, Ho, Ho" and rolling round

899. Lovely Feeling

Soldier weeping
Soldier sleeping
Soldiers on the battlefield
What's a soldier meant to feel Wave your flag
Wave, wave, wave
It's a lovely feeling

Throw your bomb
Start to fight
Step left
Step right
Load your gun
Aim your sight
Step right

So where's your enemy?
They're all asleep?
They're all asleep?
They're all asleep?
They're all asleep?
Asleep in a lively haven?

Soldier creeping
Soldier leaping
Soldier on the borderline
How's a soldier pass the time?
Bang your gun
Bang, bang, bang
It's a lovely feeling

Throw your bomb
Step right
Load your gun
Step right

So where's your enemy?
They're all asleep?
They're all asleep?
They're all asleep?
They're all asleep?
Asleep in a lonely heaven?

900. Little Things

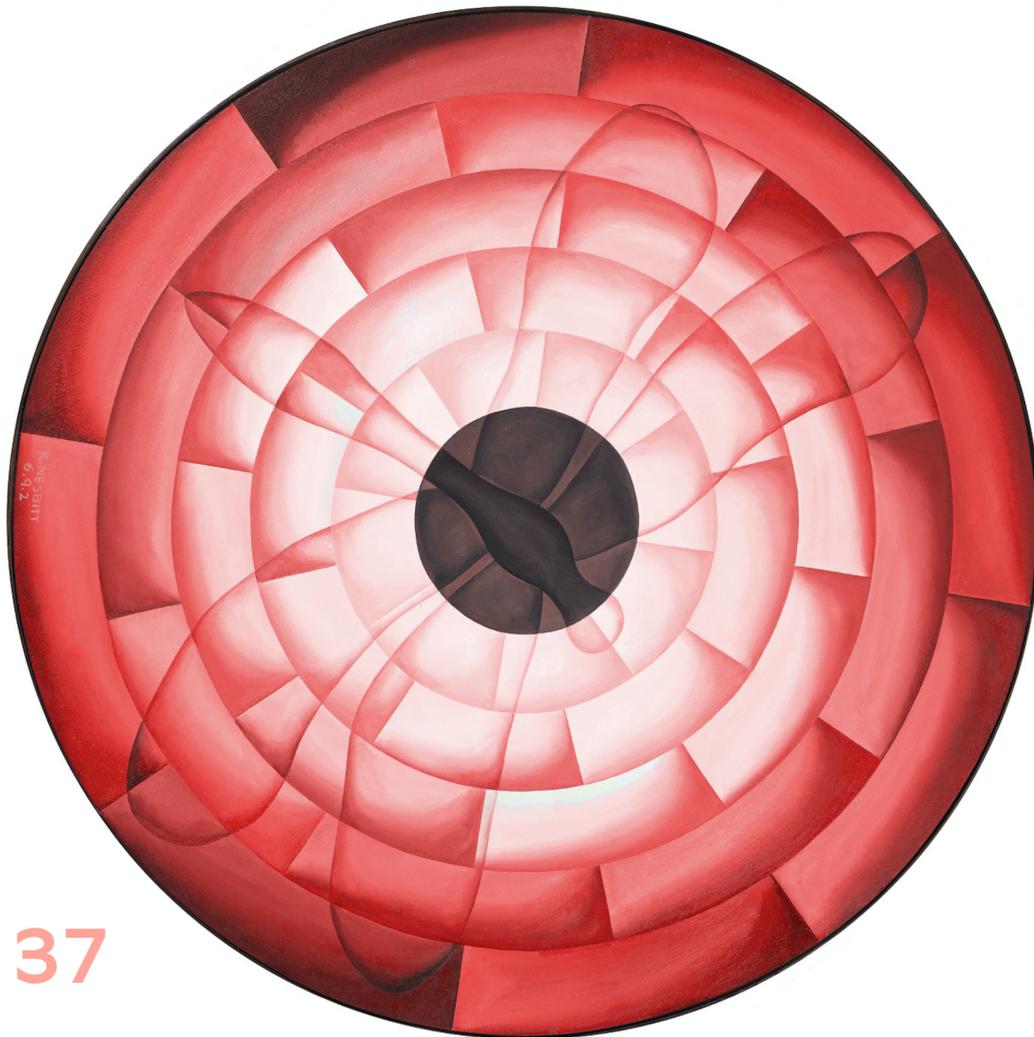

I'm a little lazy
Today it's gonna rain
One lunatic doesn't mean
The world's gone crazy
But it makes you wonder
If anybody's sane

Everything's
Aligning so perfectly
Energy in circuit
Orbital rings
Symmetry and harmony
Connected and pulsing
Those tiny strings
A window looking on to These little things
Time to focus on
The little things

Any memory may Linger like an old stain
So, I am changing my mind
I will focus my way
Until all is gone and Then nothing will remain

Across a troubled day
Swim the mystery sea
One lunatic is swimming
The world's gone crazy
And here I must wander
Left in my mind with me

901. Machineries Of Joy

Switch on electricity
Reaching for remote
Try another channel
Sink into illusion
No need to stay afloat

Solitaire at midnight
Buzzing wand vibrate
Reaching for release
Sink into illusion
Another altered state

Boot the silicon
Software refinery
Launch another program
Sink into illusion
Everything goes binary

Oh boy!
Just another toy
Machineries of joy

Polish up the beast
Race along the street
Smoking up the tyres
Sink into illusion
Leather of your seat

Needing to connect
Phone begins to chime
Sending out a message
Sink into illusion
Another place and time

Feeling interactive
Time to play a game
Log into the console
Sink into illusion
Inside a pictures frame

Seek for your lover
Dim light overhead
Warm connections
Sink into illusion
Pillows on your bed

902. Make My Day

How does your heart beat now?

Do you fear for your life?

Love wounds very sharp

Cuts deep like a knife

Cupid brings out his bow

Where does his arrow aim?

Come maiden let us play at his game

You blind fold my insight

Time speeds in its flight

Rushing wild and untamed

Make my day, make my night

Why do you fear for the flame?

Do not fear for the flame

Maiden in white

Make my day, make my night

Do you ride up and down

On your pendulums swing?

Feel the hooked barb

Of love's little sting

Cupid aims in your sleep

Planting the old lover's dream

Princess, think of a king and queen

903. Fall

On top of a mountain
Strolling somewhere high
In the mist of a moment
A dream floated by

Feeling sad on that day
And stuck in routine
I was lost without way
Found you in that dream

On the edge of a change
We hear the wind call
Yes, you and me
We're gonna fall

On the edge of nothing
It means nothing at all
If you and me
We're gonna fall

You crossed my heart
I will tell you no lie
I'll cross my heart
And I'll hope to die

Falling from dark skies
Drawn into your zone
Into your deep eyes
And your world of unknown

904. Everything

Exploding nothing
Into everything
Even something timeless
Has a moment to begin

Fill the blackness, everything
A universal cavity
Gather all the pieces up
Into the arms of gravity

Memories crawl
A creeping thing
A thousand spiders
On the skin
Kick your feet
I'll push the swing
Make the moment
Everything

Chain the sun to the wheel
Everything's routine
Leave it up to time to Turn the cogs of the machine

Sheet yourself in white
A ghost of fascination
Everything tastes sweeter
With the waste of hesitation

Memories crawl
A creeping thing
On the skin
Kick your feet
I push the swing
Make the moment
Everything

Thoughts are just like
Beggars in the rain
Robots in the laundromat
A pocketful of change
It means nothing
It means everything

905. Grain Of Sand

Oh certainly There's no way I'd want to be
Just a grain of sand
Stuck in a rock
No one could see
At the bottom of a mountain
Waiting for the weather
To get me free

So patiently
Losing my mind
Sitting quiet for many a year
Just a grain of sand
Waiting for an eon of time
Before I'd turn to the grain of sand
Next to me
(After many a year)
And say
"Hey, does anything Happen round here?"

Eventually
The rain would wash me away
Just a grain of sand
To a river
Rolling I'd say
To the bottom of an ocean
Returning half-drowned
To some sandy bay

So patiently
Losing my min
Sitting by the shore of the sea
Just a grain of sand
Waiting for an eon of time
Before I'd turn to the grain of sand
Next to me
(Sitting down by the sea)
And say
"Hey, are you feeling Bored like me?"

906. Angel King

Oh, where have you gone?
And where were you born?
Off to the east where
The demons all dawn
Oh Yes Preacher John
You're no good alone
When are you gonna
Be coming on home?

Another tear
Another foe
What will a new day
Ever bring
Come and fight by my side
With the blade
With the flaming sword
Of an Angel King

I checked the map
Looked to the east
Where the bad men hunt
The hungry men feast
Chased by devils
Preys a demon priest
Looking for the place
Where a soul finds peace

Another tear
Another foe
What will a new day
Ever bring
Come and fight by my side
With the blade
With the flaming sword

Bells of time
Are gonna ring!
Souls of the dead
Will rise and sing!
Come watch my burning
Blade go swing!
Come and fight by my side
With the sword
With the burn in your eye
Of an Angel King

907. Storm Is Coming

Only joy of being lost is Hope of being found
Weather changes fast
Gathers all around
I am turning over
On my way to going round

Defend the last light
Of the candle wick
And keep it glowing Thick and dark
The night has come
The wind is wildly blowing

My shelter has a tin roof
And the rain
Has started drumming
Sustain the flame
Hold it near me
I know a storm is coming

Drinking aphrodisiac
From your lover's cup
Clouds turning black
You're my pick-me-up
I met you going down
On your way to coming up

Holding to the falling light
Heading underground
The wind howling wild
I'm your roll-me-round
You got me getting up
On my way to falling down

908. My Friend

Not sending any message
Not leaving any trace
No way to get a line
Calling deep from space
The dark and all these stars
Is keeping me apart
Missing your warm hands
Cold heart

It's lonely sometimes Chasing out a star
It's hard to judge
The distance
Even near is far

It's a long way into deeper space
Light may bend
It's a long time
Back to home again
My friend

Dwelling on a thought of you
A mist upon the glass
No way to return or
I would fly back fast
All things seem clearer here
I'm wanting to restart
Needing your warm hands
Cold heart

909. Entangled

Foggy day in hometown
Winter waits for spring
Cold feeling coming down
Way deeper than my skin

You are in a distant land
The sun is strangely angled
You move with an opposite spin
But our lives still stay entangled

But far away is far away
When all is done and said
I'm still inclined to want to rest
My soul down in your bed

The secret that I hold
I want to rest my head
I want to rest my soul
Rest beside you in your bed

Longer day in brain town
Twenty fool's a day
So many crazy things
I don't have time to say

Spooky communication
Feels like it's ringing true
I thought that you will think of me
Whenever I may think of you

910. Silent Windows

What is on your mind?
In the silence of your windows
I can find that gentle place
And I feel that I can rest there
Like maybe angels rest there
On clouds in heaven's space

Happiness was made for laughing
Sadness was made for weeping
Right now, I want to weep
Late shadows slowly creeping
Someone made the night for sleeping
Tonight, you want to sleep

In sleep
Your dreams
Are making you smile
Behind your silent windows
You can rest a while

What would I be thinking?
In the silence of my windows
Can you find that gentle place?
Do you feel that you might rest there
Like maybe devils rest as
The fires in hell still race

All our dreams are made for pleasure
Nightmares are made for screaming
Right now, I want to scream
New sunlight quietly streaming
Someone made the sleep for dreaming
Tonight, you want to dream

911. Art of War

There's a manuscript I read
Locked within in a drawer
It records the rules of love
And calls them arts of war
It speaks of many things
That all have come before
Recording all the rules of love
And the other arts of war

The banners and flags
The drum and the gong
The fear and the cheer
And the victory song

The art of the war
The arrow and bow
To know your enemy
You first become your foe

For the stream will flow
From the high to low
The same way every Moving tide will go

Surround your enemy
Leave an open door
Practice your deception
And win before the war

Mountain is steady
The forest is quiet
Speed is the essence
Strike when the time is right

The fire conquers
And the wind is fleet
Tactics, no strategy
Will lead to defeat

To look in the sun
Diminishes gaze
Do not leave traces Come unlikely ways

Strike the unprepared
Retreat without shame
Lead your foe to battle
But don't be led the same

912. Something That I Said

Was it something that I said
That got you of bed
And ever since you left
Your ghost is in my head

Love's a funny thing
Such a curious need
I need a little dose
And with all good speed
They say it's a sharing thing
But it feels like greed
I can feel its chains
Even though I'm freed

You took my cigarettes
And you took my coat
Half-way to China
On an old slow boat
Sure, you left a note
Goodbye is all you wrote
That's nothing much
That I can quote

I'm pretty sure one day
That I will recover
All I need's a little luck
And some new lover
Love can hide away
It's all so undercover
But it's a common thing
You soon discover

913. Make It Better

I was staring aimless
Falling shadows on your breast
Last summer's light was blinding
Sinking endless to the west

I have been
Swimming in a feeling
Sinking always Drowning, getting wetter

You threw me out a line
You like to rescue
Weathered strays
I know you
Will make it better

I was laying restless
Creeping shadows in your eyes
Our road looks long and winding
Full of magic, strange surprise

I have been
Meaning any moment
And thinking always
I will write a letter

Remiss of wasted time
Ask you to remain
All my coming days
I know you
Will make it better

914. My Sadist, My Storm

Some paths are set to cross
From the day their lives are born
I don't understand
My thoughts are strange, forlorn
You left me here not knowing
My sadist, my storm

There's shelter in my memories
Let me stay there warm
Sheltered in my pain
My sadist, my storm

Some lives held by fragments
In the winds are tossed and torn
I don't understand
Your love has flown and gone?
You left me pain and tempest
My sadist, my storm

915. Next Memories

Relentless on the shore
Where the endless oceans break
Time softens every heartache
Makes the memory fade
Like the laughter lost from long ago
When we as children played
And wandered lost but tireless
In a wild, imagined make-believe
Where all our dreams were made

If you look into a sunrise
Then the light gets in your eyes
I liked the way the light looked
As it faded in your eyes
But the emptiness it left me with
Was the like the night that gets left
When the day fades from the skies

Another sad day ending dark
Is lost forever, never marked
So careful not to notice
Where my helpless eyes had strayed
To the worlds within your eyes
Where bright, careless colours played
It marked my mind with such surprise
I'd like to think that that's the way
Next memories are made

916. Ghost In My Machine

My ghost cannot be silent
It is telling me your name
It stays talking every day
Though time has passed away
Still I'm feeling just the same
One day there comes an end
For now, I just pretend Everything will last
My silence is not pain
In sleep I know your name

I'm tending to this tired theme
Resting for one moment
Laying down to dream
But half of me, my soul
Haunts and starts to scream
That ghost in my machine

Weary mind cannot stay quiet
There are echoes over time
And your whispers sound so near Else they're demons I can hear
The night whispers over time
Yes, I know your ghost is near Though it will not appear
Everything returns
I'm hoping for some time
For your machine and mine

917. Thunder Was The Sky

A storm was gathered round us
The clouds rolled in on high
The waves were angry messengers
They spoke some nameless plea
I thought the thunder was the sky
But it may have been the sea

One flash of light
Crossed starry night
And caught my eye
I guess there's always
One star brighter
Falling in our sky

On the edge
Where night had crossed
We walked the sands
To distant lands
Searched for treasures lost
All the ghosts
Down by our sides
We left our marks upon the path
Laid down by ocean tides

The sea was gathered round us
The waves rolled in on tide
The clouds were fleeting children
Dizzy from a whirling spin
I thought the thunder was outside
But it may have been within

Faded colours
Of our bright hopes
Will disappear
Fainter dreams leave
Silent echoes
Still remain unclear

918. Lost And Found

Perceptions make confusion
I'm allergic to illusion
Baby, anything might show
You might find
Me sitting down
With the Lost and Found
Laying low
Losing track of time
And everything I know

Night and day can oscillate
Time can sure accelerate
Baby, everything's entwined
You might find
Me sitting down
In the Lost and Found
Out of mind
Losing way ahead
And everything behind

Hallucinations of reality
And sensory duality
Baby, it's coming back in style
You might find
Me sitting down
Feeling Lost and Found
In the aisle
Losing any idea
I might get for a while

919. Left Side Meets Right Side

There's a very fine line
A very fine line
Somewhere in my
Thinking, feeling mind

Where the tracks of logic and
The waves of feeling all collide
Where the logic meets the feelings
And my left side meets the right side

There's a very fine line
A very fine line
Somewhere in my

Flood of ideas coming as
The dreams of feeling don't subside
While reason fights with empathy
And my day side meets the night side

920. Time Passes

There's a party up in heaven
I can't go I've been too bad
But I can hear the angel's harping
Does the music drive you mad?

Let us hide away your halo
And let's go really have some fun?
We will wait until it's darker
Slip away from kingdom come

Time passes
By the fire
Don't you feel it
Getting stronger
I can't take it
Any longer
The devil turns the heat up
Doesn't he ever tire?
While everyone's in heaven
It's so lonely down in hell
Waiting for the angels
By the fire

I have heard that it's paradise
Where every angel sings
Don't you feel the need to fly about
And stretch your little wings?

So, I sold my soul too cheap
With the devils I made a bond
Tell me, aren't you missing me
Up there in the great beyond?

921. Dance Of May

We danced to the music
From some other time
We mimed all the lines
To some dead rock and rolling
Poetic rhymes
And more time slid by
And still we stayed
On the Dance of May
On the Dance of May

I'll place a tree
Down by your door
Disappear into
The dark once more
Well, what should we care
What the people say
Let's dance in the dark
While the witches play
While the witches play
On the Dance of May
On the Dance of May

In a chill winter embrace
Your burning heat
Made my body felt weak
Got a very strange feeling
I couldn't speak
The band has gone home
Music still played
On the Dance of May
On the Dance of May

There we walked together
By the moonlight
With its silver face bright
Shedding strangest light upon
The edge of night
Might have kissed me as Morning light frayed
On the Dance of May
On the Dance of May

922. Opposites Attract

Like a hammer to the anvil
On the metal of my will
You keep beating on my heart
You've got a tradesman's skill
But I've known a lot of love
I am tempered to the thrill

You tend to say
We're meant to be
I feel the doubt attack
I know that every white light
Is balanced by the black
We've travelled down
The river time
Now there's no turning back
I want someone who is like me
But all opposites attract

Oh, you better take it easy
Cool it down and take it slow
You are bending me in ways
I don't think I even go
On the river we call time
I'm still adjusting to the flow

923. Hip To Hop

Kangaroos they like to hop
They hop around a lot, no doubt
Kangaroos are hip to hop
It's the only way they get about

They rarely drive the car as such Never seen one catch a bus
They'll never even take the train
They rarely walk, I can't explain

The rain is fine to drip and drop
A seal may like to slip and slop
Well fish they like to flip and flop
But kangaroos are hip to hop

Kangaroos they like to hop
Just down a hill or to the top
Off to school or to the shop
Home from work they love to hop

They would hop as soon as not
I asked one why, he said, "Why not I'd not run - I could not swap!
Especially when the bindy's crop!"

Anyway, they'll never stop
I guess they'll always hop a lot
Well, they hop and so, so what
If kangaroos are hip to hop

924. Angels Coming

Snake River on Wolf Mountain
Sitting by the serpentine flow
Bright mirrors in the water
Breaking light into a picture show

With Time I was an athlete
On a round track we were running
I hesitated for a moment
I saw the angels coming

Did I tell you about the dream?
About the dream I had?
One day when I was feeling
Supernatural sad
There were visions of the infinite
And mumbled words of the Raving mad

Saw fractures in the fabric
A secret not meant for our sight
World was split by cracks of night
I looked inside and saw the light

Howls echoed over midnight
A wild wind was sweet and humming
With vibrations of the universe
I heard the angels coming

925. Frame

I once read a very good book
But I forget the writer's name
It had this deadly lady
Warmed her blade by gentle flame

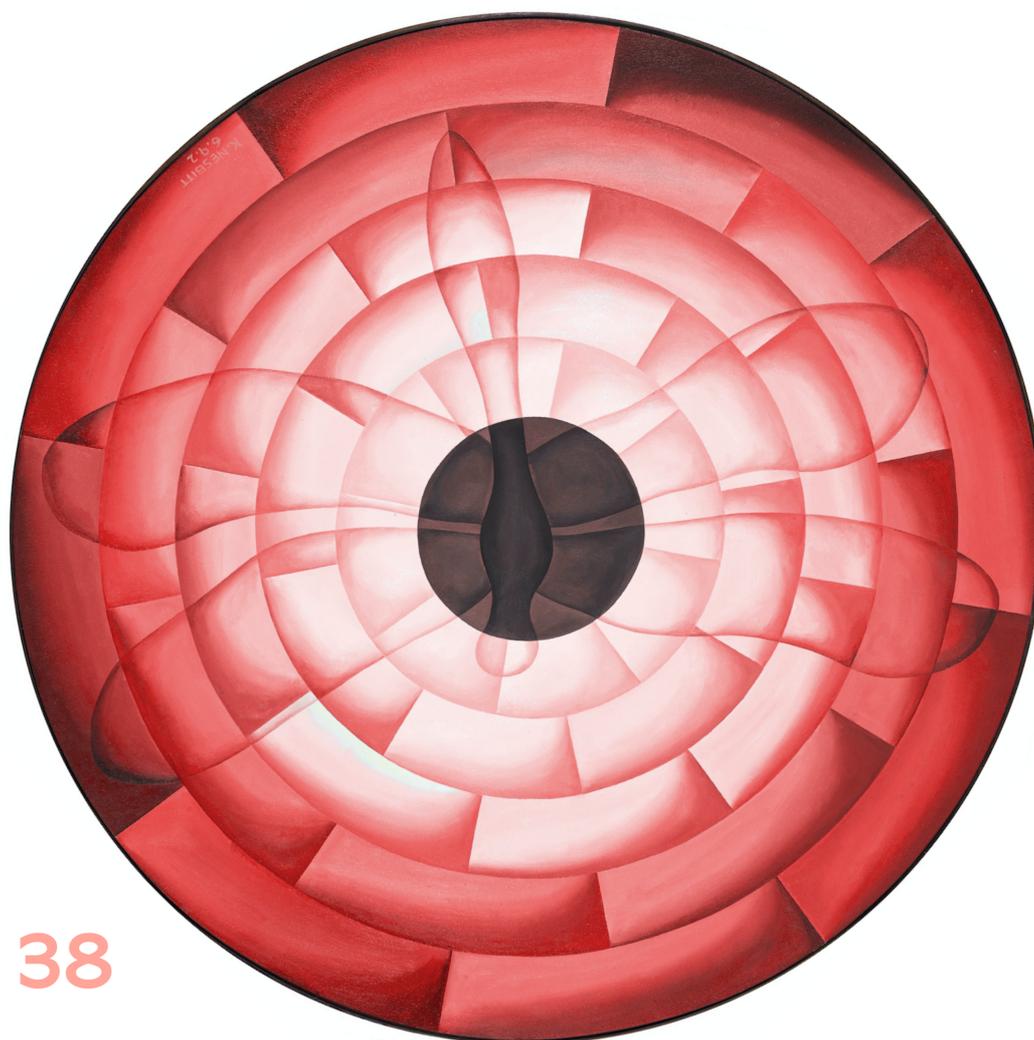

Now love was her chosen weapon
Leaving all her victims maimed
She was evil but I liked her
Never feeling guilty
For she had no sense of shame

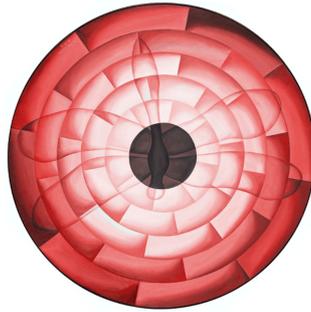

While I'm waiting
Double parked
Down in memory lane
Yes, I got your picture
But I couldn't save the frame
I could probably
Give me a ticket
If you want
Someone to blame

And I will read that book again
If I remember what it's called
To note the many victims
By her deadly ways enthralled

Another fatal accident
Losing play in the numbers game
They got distracted by her smile
I recall her M-O
But I forget the maiden's name

926. Wind And Wave

The ghosts of time
In memories cave
Call like wind and wave
Call like wind and wave

We bind and whip
The wanton slave
Lash like wind and wave
Lash like wind and wave

Note the past
Escaped from night
A new beginning
Dawning light
Secrets of the future sight
Turn the sun
The seat of time
And never fall from flight

The touch and feel
Our senses crave
Rise like wind and wave
Rise like wind and wave

The words we keep Like glass to save
Crash like wind and wave
Crash like wind and wave

Fortune favours
All the brave
Sail the wind and wave
Sail the wind and wave

Catch the moment
The mad men rave
Ride on wind and wave
Ride on wind and wave

927. Nothing

Call me a weatherman
He knows how to make it rain
He can make the sun come out
And then go away again

Call me a cameraman
He can catch the moving light
He can steal your smile I think
Before day becomes the night

Not a lot of anything
That I would see remain
The world it owes me nothing
My debt is much the same
I'm leaving when I'm leaving
I'm leaving nothing but my name

Call you the heart-breaker
You can break a simple heart
You can put one together
But you take it all apart

Call me an astronaut
He can come and get me soon
He can make the night-time come
And then take me to the moon

928. Falling And Flying

There's a lot of sadness
Going down
Don't sneeze
For I might catch it
When I find a cure
I'll be, coming round

And I've been wondering why
I have to see the things I do
If it's a normal state of being
Why don't you see them too?

Right now
I have constant dreams of falling
And the gravity is strong
There's hope of gentle landings
But then maybe I am wrong

Some days
I hold fickle hopes of flying
Making paths up to the blue
But ascendings are descendings
If directions run askew

Why don't you lend to me
A half smile
To believe
I've had nothing else
That I can hold to
It seems, for a while

So will I be remembered
A man who flew, a fool who fell?
Either a flyer or the fallen
What will my story tell?

929. Unbelonging

There is beauty in the skies
Flower seeking butterflies
But nothing much is changing here
That is really no surprise
I'm seeking hope, I'm seeking dreams
But always what I find
Is not the thing it seems

Unease lurked in my mind
It lay below the surface
For who knows how much time
Some sense of feeling wrong
But I cannot name the day it was
I began to unbelong

On the restless globe of change
There are problems left to solve
In our struggle for survival
We keep seeking to evolve
I seek a place, I seek a time
Everywhere, forever
How I seek and never find

930. Serial Killer

We were out drinking late
All tempted strangely by night
Sweeter women and fate

And I saw an old friend
Who was hanging around
He bought me a whisky
And so I drank it down

Hey, there's no telling what Comes to move you inside
In that jungle of heat
Where the animals hide

We're all driven along
We all play the game
I can only go think
We're all made the same
The candlestick-maker
The baker, the miller
In this carnival ride
Tunnel of love
Each turn's a thriller
It can warm up the blood
Like the music they play
For the serial killer

Got a stir in my soul
As everyone's singing
Out of tune rock and roll

We were all hanging out
And I thought out aloud
Heart's hungry no doubt
But alone in a crowd

The boys stood and watched
All the girls dirty dance
Don't they tempt when they move
Get you thinking romance

Wearing my vacant stare
Begin to drift far away
Lost like I wasn't there

And I was just standing
Alone, watching the band
When I saw an exotic girl
With that hair made of sand

You don't learn it in school
They don't teach you in class
How the picture's distorted
By a drink in a glass

I approach that strange girl
In the darkly lit barroom

I was made very weak
That's the way that I am
Could try and explain it
But you won't understand

Her light-coloured eyes
Where her soul likes to hide
I feel tempted to look
To see what is inside

931. Strange Things

The night brings

Strange things

Butterflies

On grey wings

Drawn into the light

Drawn into the light

My dream flows

Time slows

My vision comes

And night goes

I'm drawn into the light

I'm drawn into the light

Strange things, strange things

The bird sings

Strange things

Melodies

On high wings

Flying to the light

Flying to the light

My wings lift

The dream shifts

High, I sail on

Flight's gift

I'm flying to the light

I'm flying to the light

Strange things, strange things

Hope springs

Strange things

Future flies

On fast wings

Looking to the light

Looking to the light

My eye seeks

The dream speaks

Sorts new days

From antiques

I'm looking to the light

I'm looking to the light

Strange things, strange things.

932. Giacometti's Loneliness

I'm thinking like a child
Picasso would have smiled
Found another way to see it
Artistic by profession

You know that I just I can't Catch the light like Rembrandt
Not even, very Monet
Leaving strong impression

On my one and only-ness
Been a lot of time for thinking
Of Giacometti's loneliness
Existing by myself
Another winter's fall
Wondering should I call
While the space is folding in until There's nothing left at all

Nothing feeling very real
I'm with Dali, dream surreal
All the signs and symbols
Teaching me a lesson

In a web I have been caught
Until I'm tired of thought
I'm tending to De Kooning
Abstract in expression

933. Too Good To Be True

I'm surfing the waves
Of our changing season
Trying to cope
Keeping balance
On the thin edge of my reason

I'm peering to dark
Of our last summer night
Counting the stars
Wanting to find
Direction in their distant light

No hope in my horoscope
Tilt in my gyroscope
Edge of extreme
In a teetering dream

The future is grim
I'm falling in into your smile
Losing my grip
On our world
For a while

You could probably Save me
If you only knew
But maybe
You're just
Too good to be true

I'm catching the rays
Of pictures on screens
Talking to me
Burning ideas
Getting news into my dreams

I'm reading the signs
All the stories and news
Trying to blend
Finding a truth
In all the opposite views

Coloured pictures in scenes
On those glowing machines
Stealing the time
From my faltering mind

934. Fires In Our Hearts

Hope keeps defenceless soldiers
Marching brave to the battle line
Despair inspires losing soldiers
Into the battle for the final time

Who can stop these
Fires in our hearts?
Who can stop these fires?
Cool these wild desires?
Who can stop these fires?
All these wild unchained
Desires in our hearts?

Power fuels triumphant soldiers
Masters of the slaves enchained
Glory fools the star-eyed soldiers
For honour to a grave of fame

Faith drives the weary soldiers
Who wave flags for hope above
Ambition makes brave soldiers
In the battlefield of love

935. Eagle Dancers

I knew that from the dawn of man
Was made my one and only love
Looked up to a sacred mountain
For muse I turned my eyes above

Well ever since the eve of time
From this day all souls released
Each lost soul sought to make a pair
So they both would be at peace

The spirits gathered on the winds
To make from parts their wholes
My heart's wings beat with a calm
Though the storm was full of souls

Upon that mountain, seeking high
Among the ageless winds of time
Seeking that mirror of your soul
That once was made just to be mine

Then alone upon the high I found
A red and violet scented flower
Thinking how it drew me there
To that mountain made of power

When I faced of the winds of time
Then I felt the mountain sway
I trusted soon to meet your soul
I sensed it flew not far away

Two mighty birds rose on the wind
Felt like ancient ghosts were there
Reminding me our souls might dance
As these eagles danced in air

Sent from heaven, angel birds
They whirled the sky of time
Reminding me one day would bring Heart wings for your soul and mine

936. See You Round

Let's drink to reading minds
And knowing what people think Thirsty for forbidden things
Why don't we go share a drink
Underneath the brighter lights
Go down below your stairs
Dress up in grown-up games
Do you think the devil cares?

Real world's such a worry
For any poor modern man
See you round, Baby
Keep my secrets if you can
See you round, Baby
Winter rains will clear
See you round, Baby
The spring is nearly here

Let's drink to make-believe
And forgetting what we know
Inside your little love den
My dreams they come so slow
All leather wrapped in black
You're controlling my desire
And all I feel is redness
The flames of the devil fire

Let's drink to sadder times
For the good times that will come
The winters and all the springs
On this ride around the sun
So, take your binds and tie me
Please stop my dreams desire
Let flames lick over us
Till we burn in the devil's fire

937. Get Away

Gambling our lives away
Hard-earned money down
Well, everybody wins some
That good luck gets around

There's got to be a winner
But then lots of people lose
It seems my moods are coloured
By those strangest winter blues

So I'm waiting for the solstice
I will practice hibernation
My head down for the cold days
To avoid my desperation

I need to change my situation
I just need to get away
I could try a good vacation
Stay away another day
Whatever I must do
I just need to get away

Rambling some time away
Tired feet must take a rest
If you try too hard to make it
You never do your best

There are many winding roads
Lots of ways that you can choose
Don't let your moods be coloured
By those strangest winter blues

My body lying down this day
I will sleep in hesitation
My head will dream all winter
Practice my imagination

938. Angel's Wings

She's a poet
And she writes the world she sees Spends a little time on fantasy
And a little time on me
I wonder if she longs
Yeah, she's got inspiration
And she sings these angel's songs

There's a girl that I remember
She's a ghost
I wonder how she feels
On the Number Seven
For the North Coast
I ain't got angel's wings
But I got wheels

He's an artist
And he paints the world he sees
Draws the sun in every sky
And the waves in every sea
I wonder what he means
Yeah, he's got imagination
And he sleeps with angel's dreams

There's a girl that I remember
She's a ghost
I wonder how she feels
On the Number Seven
For the North Coast
I ain't got angel's wings
But I got wheels

My days they disappear
Into the past
They've got angel's wings
They fly so fast

939. Five Keiths

Mother was amazed when quintuplets were born
Five strapping young boys all delivered at dawn
The problem was not that they all looked the same
But mother and father just thought of one name

Mum worried and thought but what could she do
She could think of one name but not think of two Until all of a sudden and to her relief
She got an idea and called them all Keith

As they grew older and played with their toys
No-one was sure what to call the poor boys
Mum called out for Keith but just wanted one
And to her dismay came five on the run

One day Dad said, "I have an idea
We'll call all the boys by their chosen career!"
So he questioned the boys, each one and all
"What job will you do, when you grow to be tall?"

A butcher for me, there's steak to be sliced
Chops to be cut and meat to be diced
There's no doubt in my mind, what do you say?
My name will be "Beef Keith", beginning today

A fireman for me, but I'll need to be brave
There's fires to put out and people to save
There's no doubt in my mind, what do you say?
My name will be "Chief Keith", beginning today

A dentist for me, there's teeth to be filled
Teeth to be pulled and teeth to be drilled
There's no doubt in my mind, what do you say?
My name will be "Teeth Keith", beginning today

A skindiver for me there's fish to be found
I'll swim the blue oceans and go diving down
There's no doubt in my mind, what do you say?
My name will be "Reef Keith", beginning today

A gardener for me there's grass to be mown
There's flowers to pick and trees to be grown
There's no doubt in my mind, what do you say?
My name will be "Leaf Keith", beginning today

Without further ado, they all went on their way
And that's how they're known right up to this day
An there's never confusion, or that's my belief
Just the Beef, Chief and Teeth, the Reef and the Leaf Keith

940. Dance Of The Butterfly

Eyes imprint their dreamy music
On the madhouse of my soul
How can I sleep, it seems
The ghost of the dancing butterfly
Is winging through my dreams

Dancing like a butterfly
Moonstruck moth of mystery
Wings timed to ghostly melody
To be lost in love, in thought
A maze of feeling, fantasy

I step silent through the garden
All red and violet blooming
Wake her dreams by chance
Gently watch the dancing butterfly
Catch the music of her dance

941. Words Inside Of Me

We built a castle in a fairy tale
In a wonder land by the sea
We should have stayed so happy
It was never fated to be
There was a storm blowing
Coming in from the sea

Came a day
I had to say, "Goodbye"
It was the hardest word
I ever had to say
I was a little blind
I could never see
The phantoms in my soul
Making these Words in me

Do not ask me if the candle burns
Don't ask me of the burning flame
Do not ask if I still love you
The answer might fill me with shame
Don't ask for me to stay
For I might just remain

So it's farewell to my fairy castle
In a wonder land by the sea
Wont be happy ever after
That fairy tale will never be
I'm chained to my dreams
None gave me the key

942. Far Side

We are a long time gone
We are a long time dead
Don't believe every story
Don't believe what you've read

The only clear meaning
Eyes closed in our bed
The world we are dreaming
Is just in our head

Caught like a ghostly demon
In the spaces in between Between the dark side
And the light side
Between the cracks
Of a dream I hide
Everybody's somewhere else
I'm in a shadow
On the far side

We better get it all out
We better get it all said
Better not trust in our mind
Or the path that we tread

The only clear meaning
Eyes closed in our bed
The world we are dreaming
Is just in our head

Look up to drifting clouds
Where I might write your name
Between the near light
And the night sky
You might chance to See me dance and fly
Everybody's somewhere else
I'm in a shadow
On the far side

943. Loco-Motion

Oh dance the lights
Oh dance your eyes
Oh dance your smile
Oh dance your feet
Dance
Up on the up beat
Up on the up beat

Move to the sound
Move to the need
Move to the feel
Move to the heat
Move
Up on the up beat
Up on the up beat

Make me loco with your motion
Baby, drive me crazy, how?
Let's go loco with the motion, now!
Baby, drive me crazy, wow!

Feel in the dark
Feel you to me
Feel you are mine
Feel where we meet
Feel
Up on the up beat
Up on the up beat

Jump to the night
Jump to the noise
Jump to the floor
Jump from your seat
Jump
Up on the up beat
Up on the up beat

944. Devil's Heart

You could make me stay a while
And I could make you mine
Stay a little longer, you and me
With the howling ghosts of time

Keep company with memory
In a world made in our mind
If you like then I could leave
There's a world of things to find

The Devil's heart
The Devil's heart
I could start
By making lists
Of all that you inspire
But the Devil's heart
The Devil's heart remains
They say I have
The Devil's heart
The Devil's heart
Was made by fire
Fuelled by lover's pains

Sad songs for yesterday
Would make those violins cry
Holding winged angels in our minds
Jailed spirits never fly

The Devil's heart is very dark
The black dark before the dawns
When you get the devil's heart
You also get the devil's horns

945. There's An Echo

You told me your disaster
I could see no loss of blood
Your tragedy unfolding
It was just the loss of love

It's not your long time, dark time
Like it's a long way, light year
And when you talk in whispers
Makes you kind of hard to hear

There's a voice and how it calls
There's an echo, There's an echo
In your mind it treads the halls
Like time is running through you
And bouncing off the walls

There's an urgency for answers
No days for small delays
There's an echo, There's an echo
Must I repeat the phrase?

You're over your potential
With all gauges running red
I'm sad to have to hear the Disappointments in your head

It's not a fun time, good time
Like it's a dark day, night here
There's a roadblock up ahead
So not every way is clear

946. Temple Of Pleasure

Lean up against

Fake bricks in the wall

Nothing seems solid

Thinking, crumble and fall

Up on the plateau

Call of the night crow

Storm battered nature

Fist beats on the window

Exploring the lowlands

Digging up treasure

Dreaming too deep

By anyone's measure

All night

In and out

Of the temple of pleasure

Occupy edges

Brief fringes of vision

Now hits tomorrow

Sounds of collision

Pulling to pieces

Parts of creation

Watching them moving

In stop animation

947. Mirrors

It's chaos and enchantment
Red lipstick she employs
By the bathroom mirror
Her makeup and her toys
Reflecting on her magic Oh heaven help the boys

The rolling roller coaster
Playing havoc with my health
Sick inside the fairground
With a pocketful of wealth
Lost in the hall of mirrors
Reflecting on myself

My past was all a mirror
I dropped it when I ran Gravity it grabbed it fast
The mirror fell and span
Hit tomorrow very hard
And trouble soon began

Hit the future with a bang
Like when the atom splits
Seven years of broken luck
The mirror smashed to bits
Like a puzzle nearly done
The last piece never fits

Bar was made of mirrors
Her smile came back enhanced
Red made up her lipstick
She took my hand and danced
The last piece of the puzzle?
One smile and I'm entranced

948. Predator Or Prey

I prefer my despair before the joy
Not my joy before my sorrow
I like my past before the present
And today before tomorrow

A simple beast, I tire
And I lay me down for leisure
I am a beast of strange desire
Seeking every want and pleasure

Am I predator or prey
In the game of love we play
Will I be consumed
Or will I feast away?
Love's another jungle
So, it's very hard to say
Will I be like the predator?
Will I be like the prey?
Love's another jungle
It's hard to find your way

I prefer my despair before the joy
Not my joy before my sorrow
I like my past before the present
And today before tomorrow

Are we predators or prey?
It's a fine line of distinction
We like to think that we will win
But it's a slow race to extinction

949. Misspent Youth

My dream-boat set for sail
Sailed across the sea
But she didn't say goodbye
Just sailed away from me

She left me here becalmed
To marry someone rich
Hope she'll drown
She's just a clown.
You ran away you bitch

Well, even as I lay with you
Was gonna make the switch
Not that you were bad at all
Well at least not for an itch

But I never really loved you
If you want to know the truth
You're a teenage misadventure
You're a misspent youth

Yeah, we played at doogie
You came to fetch my stick
And we were happy puppies
When we had a bowl to lick

I whimpered and I dug for you
I dug myself a ditch
You took my bone
You ran from home
You ran away you bitch

I licked you up like candy
Liked to watch you twitch
Liked the way you blew me
But you blew my head to bits

But I never really loved you
If you want to know the truth
You're a teenage misadventure
You're a misspent youth

950. Making Love And Trouble

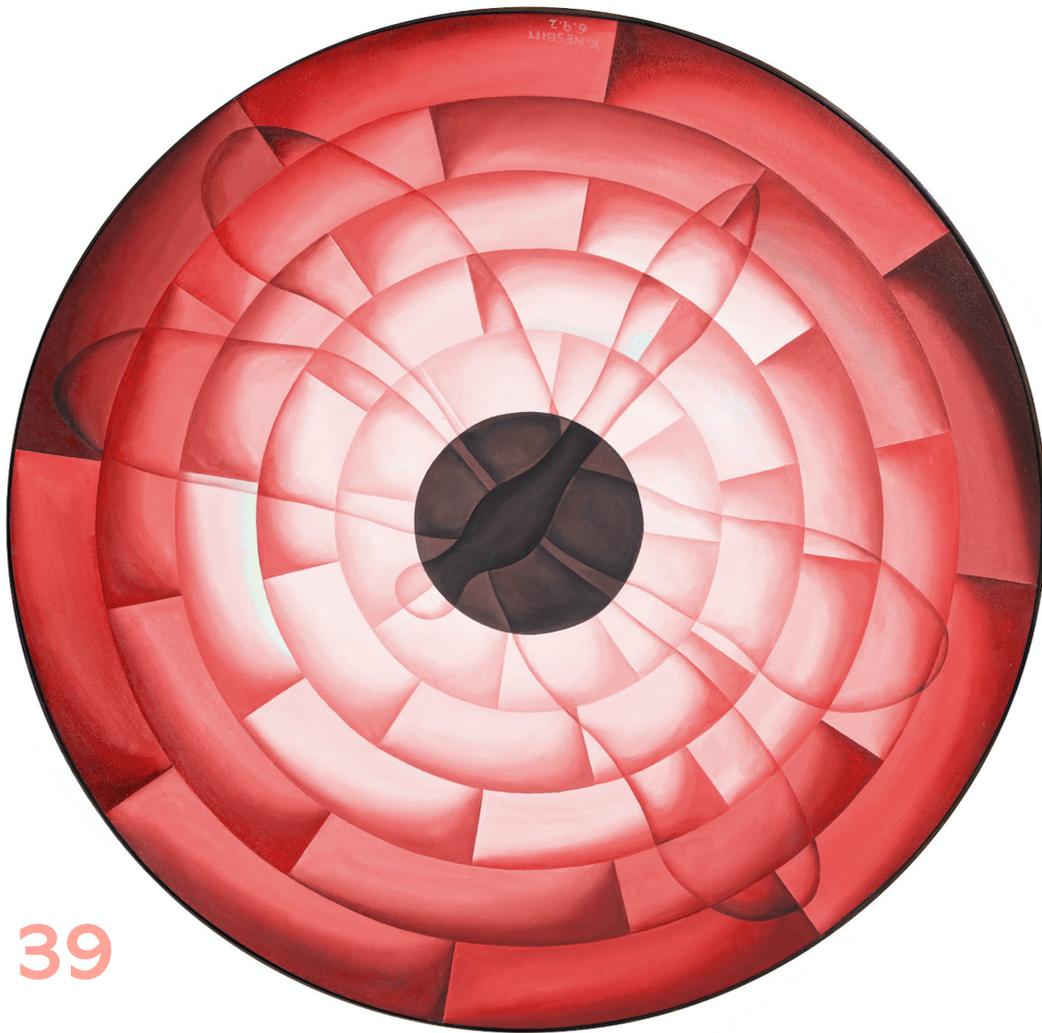

Oh, just make your fingers click
And I'll be there double-quick
So, just snap your fingers fast
I'll be there on the double
I'm as keen on making love
As you're keen on making trouble

I told you you're a knockout
I crossed my heart
I cross my eyes
You've got me seeing double
I want to make some love with you
If you want to make some trouble?

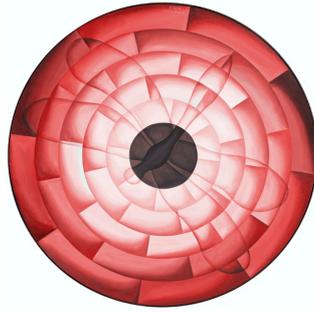

Well, they'd have to dig two holes
Bury our departed souls
Tipping something over us
Two tonne of heavy rubble
Just to stop me making love
And keep you from making trouble

People hide behind their blinds
Keeping secrets in their minds
Can't bear to see your happy
That want to burst your bubble
I'm still keen on making love
If you're keen on making trouble

951. Dreamer Of All Of Time

Once there was but nothing
Nothing on my mind
Then I dreamed I was a dreamer
And I dreamed of all of time

When I dreamed of all of time
I dreamed the dark and light, and then
I dreamed the light away, and then
I dreamed it back again

How I wished to see the dream
That's why I dreamed the light
There was dark and there was nothing
When I dreamed the day from night

Now the night it dreamed of day
And the day it dreamed of night
Until the white had dreamed of black
And all the black had dreamed of white

I am the dreamer
I am the dreamer of all time
I am the dreamer of who you are
And I dream you in your mind

I dreamed the light from nothing
I dreamed of who you are
I dreamed the day, I dreamed the night
And I dreamed for you a star

When I took the time to dream
How I dreamed a little higher
I dreamed I was exploding
Into light I dreamed the fire

And so I dreamed the star
I dreamed the fire, the fire in its face
So, I may have dreamed the star
But I think that time it dreamed the space

All three stars began to dream
They dreamed the darkness filled
I dreamed away the ones I wished
But I left some dreaming still

I dreamed of one from nothing
I dreamed all numbers into place
I dreamed the stars, I dreamed the light
And time, time it dreamed the space

I am the dreamer
I am the dreamer of all time
I am the dreamer of who you are
And I dream you in your mind

From one I dreamed of two
One and two dreamed of three
From nothing I had dreamed of one
But who had dreamed of me?

I dreamed the air from nothing
That's how I dreamed the sky
I dreamed the winds of change
But why I dreamed I knew not why?

First, I dreamed the fire
Then I dreamed the earth to be
I dreamed the air, I dreamed the wind
And at last I dreamed the sea

I dreamed the storm sky violet
I dreamed the clear sky blue
Sea was coloured green in dreams
The yellow stars I dreamed them too

I dreamed the earth was orange
The fire was red inside my mind
And that's how I dreamed the rainbow
Just one colour at a time

It was quiet and all was still
And time it dreamed along
How I wished to hear the dream
That's why I dreamed the song

I dreamt a note, I dreamt it higher
And dreamt it higher still
I let it fade and fall away
But it dreamed against my will

Until each note began to dream
Another melody and time
They dreamed together, dreamed apart
Dreamed a sound inside my mind

And the music dreamed of feeling
And yes, I dreamed along
That's how I dreamed of feelings
They were dreamed out in a song

I am the dreamer
I am the dreamer of all time
I am the dreamer of who you are
And I dream you in your mind

I dreamed every pattern
That you touch and feel and see
And I dreamed into living
Every dream, every dream that was to be

I thought that I might sleep then
I had no more dreams to give
And then I dreamed my greatest dream
I dreamed the dream to live

The fire took the dream
It dreamed of life then with the sea
They dreamed with air and earth
And they dreamed all life to be

I dreamed the rainbow to the land
I dreamed the rainbow to the sky
I dreamed it to the dragon's wings
And onto the butterfly

And yes we dreamed of you
The fire, air and sea and land
While time it still keeps dreaming
And it dreams the rock to sand

I am the dreamer
I am the dreamer of all time
I am the dreamer of who you are
And I dream you in your mind

One had dreamed of two
One and two they dreamed of three
And I may have dreamed of you
But who had dreamed of me?

952. Sometimes Angels Fall

Sometimes angels fall
Heaven is too high
Too high for us all, sometimes

Yes, when I was young
And time would allow
I dreamed that I rode a cloud

So many times, my mother sighed
How my spirit, longed for the blue sky

I am meant to fly
Gliding I survive
Alone up high

Death shadows crawl
Fatal gravity
I hear heavens call

Braver hearts would stall
Don't say it is true
Sometimes angels fall

953. Mythical Beasts

The sky is wide
It's quiet and open
There is a mountain
Sloping to the sky
There's a haunting wind
That sings
The world looks small
Standing so high
I hear the Faint beat of wings

The mythical beasts
Are hunting
Under the sun
Under the sea
Under the earth
For me

The sea is wide
Its wild and breaking
There is a sand walk
Snaking to the tide
There's a taunting sound
Faint sighs
The waves break loud
Down by my side
I fear the Ocean will rise

The earth is wide
Rocking and shaking
No solid ground
Nowhere we can hide
There's a breaking road
Deep cracks
The mountains fall
Begin to slide
I'm near and Leaving no tracks

954. Word To The Wise

A little too much of that alcohol
A small mistype in the
Hypertext transfer protocol
The irrelevance of elegance
The precedence of severance
The twisted road that beckons us

Don't jump the link
A nod and a wink
A word to the wise
There's nothing worth more
Than the smile in your eyes

The book with the hint
Has gone out of print
A word to the wise
Any talk
That anyone speaks
Is possibly lies

A little too long in the shopping mall
Hypertext transfer protocol
Your preference for evidence
Your reference to negligence
The aimless god that reckons us

955. Contract

Over the thought waves
Getting ideas
Try to make contact
Kissing your smile
Making a contract

Taking a moment
Breaking it down
The before and the after Holding the laughter

It's nothing I found
And nothing I missed
No sense of the now
It's time for the twist
The hero is zero
And doesn't exist

Over the thought waves
Getting ideas
Try to make contact
Kissing your smile

Stealing a fortune
Hording it safe
In a well without measure
Hiding the treasure

It's nothing I need
And nothing I wished
No sense of the hope
It's time for the twist
Tomorrow we borrow
But doesn't exist

956. Paper Minds

A moment out of nowhere
As the feelings shift and change
You haven't made a single plan
But everything's arranged

Collecting in your paper minds
A thousand shames and shadows
A thousand shames and shadows

Light falls on the broken glass
Of shattered dreams and sorrow
Animate on hopes and fear
Each piece of time you borrow

Drawing in your paper minds
Uncoloured shapes and shadows
Uncoloured shapes and shadows

The noises sound like voices
Make echoes on the paper walls
Footprints run and fade away
A distant silence falls

Hiding in your paper minds
A maze of signs and shadows
A maze of signs and shadows

957. Better Days

Monday, and I am giving in
I will do anything I can Turning the winter into spring
The days are way too short
Look the night is closing in

And everybody's sighing
With the heart sadness of it all
We are all too scared to fly
Complain of gravity
And the risk we're gonna fall

They say
Darker days are coming
Coming to an end
Better days are coming
I have hope to lend

Hold onto something
Hold on to me
Hold on to anything
Anything you see

They say
Better days are coming
Coming my friend
Better days are coming
Coming again

Got a recipe for sunshine
And I am cooking it up now
It will turn coldness into warm
Frightening the winter
It will take away the storm

Running faster coming nearer
For we cannot waste any time
Thunderous storm is clearing fast
You've got to love the sky
When the sun is out to shine

958. Strange Land

It's my heart
If you, took this
And gave, one kiss
It would Make it a
Good day

It's my life
If you, want that
You would, come back
You should Come home
To stay

My heart is a
Stranger in need
It's a strange want
It's a strange need
Your heart is a
Strange land indeed

It's your heart
If you, see clear
You would, come here
And then
We could start
Again

It's your life
If you, gave that
I would, come back
So then
We're one
My friend

959. Little More Blue

Feeling a picture
Shading my mind
So many colours now
Not enough of time

Watercolour things
Take another hue
Might as well add
A little more blue

Yellow streaks on
The red shade of dawn
Purple oceans and Grey for the storm

Watercolour things
Take another hue
Might as well add
A little more blue

960. Contemporary Madness

The moths keep diving
Out of night
Into my headlights
It's fate
Or I guess
They underestimate
The speed of moving light

Irrational, illogical
Impossible and strange
Lessons, laws and secrets
And the tendency to change

Temporary sadness
I am on the edge
Crossing the line
Out of the square
Alas, I can only
Stop and stare
With my Contemporary madness
There

The days keep moving
Down the line
A victimless crime
I'm late
So I guess
I underestimate
The speed of moving time

Mechanical, invisible
Invincible, untamed
Constant, bow with arrows
And they tend to be un-aimed

961. Love Is For The Clowns

Love is a hurdy-gurdy
Runaway ride on a merry-go-round
Love is for the clowns

My pitter, patter pulse is beating
How my helpless heart goes leaping
As you flutter by Eyelids opening and drooping
Like the wings of the butterfly (Wings of the butterfly?)

Here's a flower
It's a rose!
Look out a bee!
Ah, no my nose!

Love is a hurdy-gurdy
Runaway ride on a merry-go-round
Love is for the clowns

You are as bright as the yellow sun
Should I compare they to a summer's day
(Oh I think that has been done!)

You're eyes twinkle like glittery stars
Over midnight seas
You're hair sprinkles like magical fairy
Dust into the breeze
(Fairy dust - oh please!)

Come hither, now go
Making up - and tumbling down

Love is a hurdy-gurdy
Runaway ride on a merry-go-round
Love is for the clowns

962. The Words

Well I'm sitting inside
On a rainy day
And I'm trying to think
Of what I can say

You're harder to reach
Than the passing moon
You tell me that one day
You'll be leaving soon

Maybe if I found the words
You would stay tonight
Maybe if I found the words
It would be alright

Maybe if I found the words
You wouldn't go away
Maybe if I found the words
Then you would stay

But here I am again
Sitting on my own
Never even knowing
If you're coming home

No I don't even know
What did I do wrong
And where ever you've gone
Must I wait so long?

963. Star-Crossed

On goes the war again
Between my passion
And my reason
I thought I knew the way
To happiness
But my love
Committed treason

Now your fate keeps teasing me
To distant yonder places
I look constantly to find you there
In a crowd of stranger's faces

I'm no different than the rest
Seeking fascination
Astrologically lost
Another of the star-crossed
Down at Kings Cross
Changing platforms
For a predetermined destination
In too deep
To count the cost.=

Destiny tormenting me
Probably lost in time
Or lost in space
A puzzle I will solve
Finding clues of you
I seek but
Only find a trace.

Constantly I have searched
Nothing left for me to do
The closer that our lives draw near
The further away I end from you

I've steered wide of storms
And unintended chaos
Could be good luck
Or even management
But days repeat
And every
Choice just leaves me stuck

Maybe I should just stand still Wait for what is meant to be
Stop and let you do all running
Patiently, let fate bring you to me

964. Fairing Well

The sky was dark and fading
Fading for the night
The world bound by gravity
And spinning, lost the light

The night hits the water hard
Waiting for the sound
A stone through breaking glass
The future hit the past

I'm in the land of sea
Of sea and sand and sky
You're by the rivers side
And the churches tolling bell
Here's hoping
Your heart is fairing well

Soon sun pierced the morning
Light was on its way
The light curved by gravity
And bending, made the day

The light hits the night so hard
Waiting for the sound
The dark shattered like glass
Tomorrow came apart

The sea was blue and reaching
Touching for the sky
The waves fighting gravity
And losing, fell from high

The wave hits the water so hard
Waiting for the sound
Like thunder from the storm
The future being born

965. Memory's Looking Glass

We wish away some days
Safely out of reach
Photos in the pages
Of a picture book we keep Though tempted back we dream
Go wandering through those pages
In the timeless book of sleep

Remembering times
Like ghosts we fear
Words refuse to sound
Memories blur unclear
Disappearing fast
We look upon the days
In memory's looking glass
Reflecting back the past
Scenes of the masquerade
We played
And the ways
We were unmasked

We want once more for glory
That time has taken
Faded all the pages
Our bright colours seem to leak
All but half remembered
Watch alone, old silent movies
Where the actors never speak

966. Electronic Eyes

Charging my fires
She's full up with wires
Electrical ties
I can't break her disguise
It's all automatic
Smooth, mechanical sighs
All run to a program
By some clever AI's
Steel robotic spies
That they make in sci-fi's
She's got electronic eyes

There's a flitter, a thump
Like a circuit went jump
It's just like
Winning a prize
When she smiles
Her eye-lights go blink
Like the whole thing's in sync
She's got electronic eyes

She only speaks truth
There's a message I hear
Intention is clear
I know what she means
There's no way I'm that wise
Her words all amaze me
There's noise in her music
Whole world goes crazy
And starts playing high-fi's
Laughter, lunatic cries
She's got electronic eyes

There's a surge and a spark
Jumps straight into my heart
Danger has walked
Straight into my home
Like she's touching me in Secret physical zones
Faint promises, riddles
All in mystical tones
Electricity flies
Like a storm in the skies
She's got electronic eyes

967. Wrong Side Of The Law

It's not like the way

It was before

I'm getting bored

Hell, there's

No money come in

Always watching old

Pictures on TV

And sitting here

Stinking of gin

Let's start a war

Go for a ride

We will be like

Bonnie and Clyde

Robbing a store

Getting a gun

Wrong side

Of the law

Let's start a war

Go for a ride

We will be like

Bonnie and Clyde

I don't like the day

Lasting too long

Wishing is wrong

Well, just

Here wasting our time

We're just pretending

We are two outlaws

Just lying here

Thinking of crime

It's just like you said

Chance it and fly

Maybe we die

Tell me

How is living a sin?

Open a bottle

Let's do it again

Get wasted here

Drinking our gin

968. Man In The Moon

My friend lives in a haunted house
Down by the restless sea
Well voices of the dead
I hear their souls
Living in his haunted head
Tonight, all the ghosts are in me

He saw the moon shine
He said he was thinking
They could bury him there
And then after the grieving time
We could laugh and declare
Sing a sad tune
Say we used to know
The man in the moon

My friend is giving up today
He sees no tomorrow
A symptom of the age
With his story
Written on every page
Of the saddest book of sorrow

969. Fool's Paradise

Make the heavens
You can make the seas
Then take the land and
Make the animals
And make the mighty trees

Let there be a day and night
Let the water fill with fishes
Make a man and make a woman
Fill their heads with Hopes and wishes

Make our home a garden
Please make it very nice
I'll beware the serpent
Let me go and let me live
In that fool's paradise

Let me wait in shade
Below the apple tree
Make every sacrifice
Set me free and let me be
In that fool's paradise

Make the world
Marvellous in ways
Now just say the word
It won't even take
One week of seven days

Let there be the sun and rain
The mountains and the streams
Make a man and make a woman
Fill their heads with
Desires and dreams

970. Starfish And The Catfish

Why is the starfish in a pool
And not up in the sky?
Does a starfish like to swim?
Don't they have some wings to fly?

Why is a catfish not a dogfish?
Do they go meow?
And if they made a mooing sound
Then would they be a cow?

When a catfish meets a starfish
There's bound to be a fight
If the catfish and the starfish
Both think that they are right

When a catfish meets a starfish
There's bound to be a fight
If the catfish and the starfish
Both think that they are right

And catfish are quite playful
There is very little doubt
They're not at all like starfish
In the way they muck about

But when the catfish met the starfish
He thought her quite a dish
When the starfish met the catfish
She blushed and made a wish

The starfish and the catfish
I thought I'd never see
Saddle up a seahorse
And ride away to sea

971. Over The Moon

Down on the beach
Playing like fishes
Surfing up to the sand
Do the impossible
Reach for my hand

I saw the news
They sent a rocket
Blasting to Mars
Do the impossible
Reach for the stars

Over the moon
Is where we both wished
It's such a shiny light
We were born optimists
Everything looking bright
By any dark night
Whatever the price
Love you forever
Hey, that Sounds pretty nice

Under the light
Dreaming like fools
Leaning in for a kiss
Do the impossible
Reach for a wish

Lying so close
Start drifting to sleep
Closing for night
Do the impossible
Reach for the light

972. Vague Impression

Sunset is the overture
To another night
I'm learning something
Maybe darkness brings a lesson
The counterpoint to light
It never makes a statement
Just leaves a vague impression

Ghost of an idea
Trace of a feeling
Love promises
Faith healing
The line is fine
It's all a mist
A trough, a peak
In the tide
Of our time

Between the past and future
Now does not exist
Does not mean a thing
Simply adds to our confusion
The place cannot persist
Does not scar this wave of time
Just shapes a faint illusion

973. Code

Light it tends to scatter
Like looped refrains
And making names
For things that used to matter

In secret words
The night bird sings
Nothing matters
Something will
There's meaning in
The little things

And I broke the code
And you fixed it
The moon brought me down
And you told me
That everything
Would be alright tomorrow

And I took the road
And you missed it
The stars fall on down
And I hold you
Or everything
Would be like night and sorrow

Mirrors like to shatter
Like paper chains
In falling rains
Hold things that seem to matter

Tied in knots
And shadow strings
Something matters
Nothing will
There's meaning in
The little things

974. Lot To Be Said

There's a lot to be said
Oh for being so mad
They let you be happy
And you never feel sad

There's a lot to be said
When I'm talking to you
I'm making up words
For the things we could do

I want you so badly
I'm thinking so madly
I'm lost and so sadly
I can't find a way, see
You're driving me crazy
(You're making me crazy, baby)
(You're making me crazy, baby)

There's a lot to be said
When I'm feeling this way
It could take up the night
It could use up the day

There's a lot to be said
For the thrill of the chase
For the hunger of love
For the bittersweet taste

There's a lot to be said
Oh for finding the one
It's like a dark night
Turned bright by the sun

There's a lot to be said
To all the gods high
Who laugh at our tears
And our happiness, cry

975. Complicated

We have forty sevens pages
Of excuses and of reasons
And yet the year is very long
But there's not so many seasons

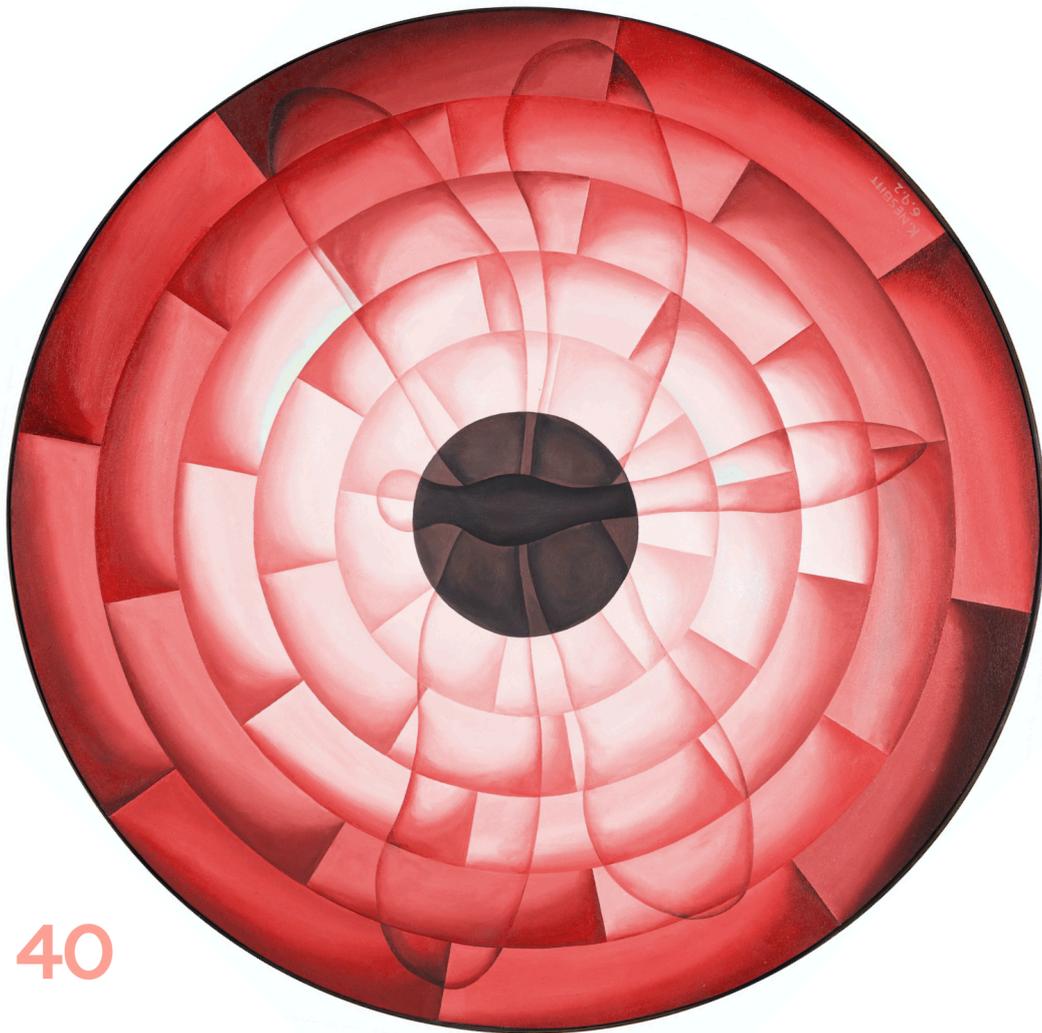

Our logic's grounded on belief
Upon emotion and desire
Trying cool and calculated
But I'm burning slow with fire

I tend to animated, wild
A tiny touch of agitated
I'm hard to understand
Things are very simple
That's why they're complicated

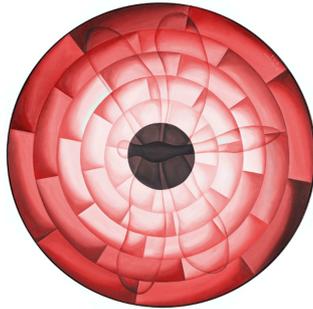

Our needs are very simple
Wind up clockwork toys
Driven to avoid all pain
And gather up the joys

Do not wind me up the wrong way
Or go and try and fix my mind
There's no clue to what I'm thinking
At least that I will ever find

976. Some Days

I carry heavy loads
Across the burning sands
Body, it aches from the toil
Got blisters on my hands

You say I'm melodramatic
I need to have some fun
I've been working so hard
Back burning under the sun

Some days I dread the future
Some days I will be sad
Some days are worse than others
Some days are just as bad

Some days I trudge a weary path
Mountains in my way
Some days there's no hope
No rest for the day

I stumbly blind so far
I am lost there's no doubt
A weary soldier, no fortune
I'm wearing my feet out

If I rest for just one moment
And lay my burden down
Enemy will find me
Bury me under the ground

977. Fly Away

I saw the wonder of the red bridge
Across the San Francisco Bay
City white and washed in lime
There I saw the rock of Alcatraz
The captured souls whispered out
Behind the rusty bars of time

The space needle up in Washington
The ended leaves had fallen
Now the sun had turned away
I saw a band there in Seattle
Dirty rock and roll it played
I almost wished I stayed

I couldn't catch the fall
Of one tear from my eye
I was half-hoping it would hide
It makes me sad to say goodbye
I tell the truth, believe me
I don't want to leave your side

But sometimes we have to fly away
To try and lose our past
I didn't say the things I meant to say
Our time has gone so fast
And I'm never sure just which goodbye
We will call our last

Yellow cab to Seventh Avenue
Heard a crazy kind of wisdom
That the taxi-driver talked
In Times Square he nearly crashed
I am sure we'd all go crazy
Driving those taxis in New York

Wind blowing across a frozen lake
Standing tall, one hundred floors
Atop a bleak Chicago sky
Very last stop on the way to home
The blues were moving through me
But I never worked out why

978. Late For Destiny

I see within your eyes a light
That I have seen before
Do you believe in other lives
Where we have been before?
Did we meet within our pasts
Upon some distant slice of time?
Were we lovers made to ghosts?
These thoughts are ice upon my mind

Will love last the turns of history?
The pains, the chains, the miseries
Something's not the same to me
I was late, you did not wait
What was I to do?
Was I late for destiny?
Was I just late for you?

Our minds are mainly conjurers
They're made to sure deceive
And quick to alter all we see
And make what we believe
Within my thoughts upon a dream
Is that the place we lay?
And never did our hearts caress
Upon some other day?

The centuries fall and close
They slowly crumble like the land
The links, the chains they still remain
From the date you held my hand
A single touch that weds our thoughts
And joins us evermore
I see within your eyes a light
That I have seen before

979. Looking For Love

Saw your previous man
Wandering upbeat
Searching
Down in red light street
Looking for love

He looked lost and wild
Tired of just being
One more of the lonely
Fallen meek and mild

Looking for love
Hell down on earth
So far to Heaven above
Hell down on earth
Looking for love
Looking for love

There is unrest
There's a tempest
The problem is clear
Bill said, "Hell is empty
All the devils are already here"

Wrap your wings around me
For I want to smile
Lay with
An angel a while
Looking for love

Meet under the moonlight
Our restless spirits
Seek in the dark streets
For trouble tonight

Two contented souls
Float away warm
Rise up
And hide in a storm
Looking for love

They are stealing a way
Spies undercover
Shadow holds darkness
But moon lights a way

980. Fool Around

Looking at the sky today
And forever went the blue
Not a lot of detail, still Attending to the view

Waiting for the night to Cut its black into the blue
Give a new perspective
Shift the angle of my view

I'm holding it together
I'm growing into you
All the stars aligning
And aligning to the true

The day is cooling down
We could stay out
Dance like fools a bit
We could head on out of town
Find a road that's moonlit
And we could fool around

Swimming at the sea today
And our past was in review
Found a lot of empty sand
Down where the tide withdrew

Seeking for a good friend
Someone who's tried and true
Help me make a difference
That tomorrow can't undo

Breezes stirred, I felt your Sweet presence coming through Recall just how I meet you
Down on rescue avenue

981. Window By My Side

There's a window by my side
Lets in the coming day
Opens for the eager
Smile of morning
Sun rays
So warm, so white against
The cold cool shades of night
I'm ready for the day
If it would just begin
There's a calm out on my world
And I feel some peace within

There's a window by my side
Looks out on the sky
Up in the blue
The raptor rides
So high
Up in the blue cathedral
Upon the warm wind's tides
I see the lazy noon
Hear the faintly speaking wind
There's a calm out on my world
And I feel some peace within

There's a window by my side
Lets in the change of day
A portal on the seeping light
The sigh of afternoon
Tied rays
So wan, so weak it seems
The day's a dream and I'm asleep
I could close my eyes
And let the sleep begin
There's a calm out on my world
And I feel some peace within

There's a window by my side
Looks out on the sky
Up in the dark
The ghost moon rides
So high
Up in the dark cathedral
Among the star sea tides
So comes the falling day
The world's in failing spin
There's a calm out on my world
And I feel some peace within

982. Play Back

There is nothing wrong
I see no line that's drawn
Still best keep your fingers crossed
The light you can imagine
It could be a false dawn

He told you that
He knew, how to make it well
But he's not a medicine man
Just a snake oil seller
We know and you can tell

The thieves will always thieve
Like the story-weavers weave
Like your hope only deceives
And your memories
Always play back
Mostly make-believe

There is nothing wrong
The world won't break apart
He found a way into your head
He ran you round, inserted
A fear into your heart

He told you that
Tomorrow is a storm
But he's not a fortune teller
He's just a weatherman
We know we're staying warm

983. Deep Below

Shelter nightly ocean
I don't tend to swim so good
I only float on sadness
From your eyes of splintered wood

Play a theme-less sleeping
Of the lullaby you know
Chill me with the white noise
Of the six-edge fallen snow

So you know I'm sinking
Sinking very slow
Into my sea of thinking
From my high returning low
Oh yes, you know I'm sinking
Into the deep below

Every thought unspoken
As it hopes you to my side
Empty-headed answers
And your eyes my spirit guide

Tempted by enchantment
From the siren's magic spell
There's a mystery forgotten
That no one wants to tell

984. Never Was

We all know who is to blame
All the "never-dids" have great ideas
And the "cannot-dos" the same
The "lazy-bones", the "stupid-drones"
Paid too much for your opinion
Making work for others
Please hang your head in shame
All the "never-dids" with great ideas
And the "cannot-dos" the same

I know your secret name
Don't look at me so strange
Because
You are another
"Used-to-be"
A "wanna-be"
A "never-was"
These things will never change

Go take your toys to throw
For the "one-day-soons" can take a break
The "get-round-to-its" can go
The "useless-cows", the "not-know-hows"
You are slowing down the progress
And holding up the line
You're a light that doesn't glow
The "one-day-soons" can take a break
The "get-round-to-its" can go

985. Rethinking

My thoughts have caught
A strange momentum
I learned this
Was never taught
For every idea
There's the equal
And opposite re-thought

So that's what happened
Inside my head last night
I retracked every journey
Turning left where I had once
Been turning right

Taking the time
Reviewing my mind
To the extreme
Retracing the ways
Reliving the dream
And always
Rethinking my days

Hence, I'm in a
Strange, bewildered state
With an utter Deep confusion
For every idea
There's the exact
Opposite conclusion

Sanity is stolen now
My head is now bereft
I had wandered back around
Turning right where before I'd Been turning left

Taking the time
Reviewing my mind
To the extreme
Retracing the ways
Reliving the dream
And always
Rethinking my days

986. Equation Of Our Days

Kali strides on Shiva
The ravens stealing light
Moon is now eclipsed
In our self-shadow here tonight

Where is the end of time?
Perhaps it's sometime soon?
Can't we make a measure?
We could reuse the light of moon

Apollo carries the sun
Drives the horses in his chariot
To somewhere high above
Time devours all
Now love steals time
Just like the time steals love

I've been collecting
Time's clichés
From the poets
And great essays
I've been searching
For some time
For the
Equation of our days

The mother goddess sings
A melody so strange
Want to find the moment
Where you feel the future change

We travel many ways
Fate it steers us odd
Could be the will of man
Perhaps it is the will of gods

Now the gods in starry boats
Keep circling, around they race
Let Ishtar bring the springs
Stars stay afloat
Cut across space
Just as love clips time's wings

987. Show Is Over

Sleeping with
An after-image
Of yesterday
Sweetest things
I remember
Starting a new day

Day ending now
Seeing the red
Sun setting
Past pretending now
I'm any good
At just forgetting

The show is over
Close your eyes
Eyes of lonely blue
The curtain closes
Light is closing with the night
The world it closes too
Close your eyes
Eyes of that lonely blue
Rest
Sleep, let time allow
The show is over
The show is over
The show is over, now

A war that
Rages wild in me
Constant, no release
No ending
No surrender
Always broken peace

Faded colours
Of our bright hopes
Disappear
Ever fainter dreams
Leaving echoes
Tainted and unclear

988. Butterfly's Wings

Some place in time
A butterfly's wings were beating
There was chaos
Where the light had been
Darkness and starlight where the sun
Had disappeared, retreating

I was caught hoping that the day
Would last a little longer
Caught holding onto memories
That made my hopes seem stronger
My hopes were just some dreams
That I'd forgotten to forget
But I was holding on to daylight
By the time the sun had set

Some time in place
A butterfly's wings were beating
There was chaos
In the scheme of things
A madness as each moment ran Disordered, quickly fleeting

Among the steady stars a light
Left an arc across the sky
Your thoughts fell bright across my mind
Lingered where I'd let them fly
These hopes were made of dreams
That I'd remembered to recall
And I was wishing on the starlight
As I watched the heavens fall

Some place
Some time
Somewhere
I know
A butterfly's wings are beating
There'll be chaos
In the land of dreams
Where next our hopes are meeting

989. Strange Charms

I hear the songs of seabirds
Our tangled conversations
Every phrase is spinning
We are linking up the word
Interacting and confined
All traced with the absurd

Your fortune does me favours
Sketched upon the lines
Etched upon your palms
I like your little quirks
Take me in your arms
Your colours and your flavours
Your bottom and your top
Your up and down
Strange charms

Driven fundamental force
We're branching every which way
Beginning with the source Momentum is conserved
And everything is looping
Well, it has to be of course

990. Indigo Blue

The skies are dripping pigment
Liquid watercolours run
The bright colours of rosellas
Are all shining in the sun

I love the land we live in
I love the open skies
I saw your dress of indigo
I saw your indigo eyes

What's anyone supposed to do?
I'm changing colours
Into indigo blue

Your eyes are teasing figments
Of my wild imagination
The colours of my dreaming mind
All glow with fascination

I love the land we live in
I love the summer seas
I saw your dress begin unfolding
In the faintly teasing breeze

What's anyone supposed to do?
I'm changing colours
Into indigo blue

Your thighs are dripping water
All the rare blues from the sea
The colours of the umbrellas
Seemed so bright with fantasy

I love the land we live in
I love the open skies
I saw your dress of indigo
I saw your indigo eyes

What's anyone supposed to do?
I'm changing colours
Into indigo blue

991. Promise of Rain

Hot in my summer
Under sky's deep blues
Well, what's going on
Better give me the news

There's a war somewhere
While the rich get paid
Inflation will rise
An issue with trade

Money's gone missing
The criminals raid
Everyone lied
Politicians got laid

Poor out of work
People in pain
Coming election
Another campaign
Stories on screen
Hurting my brain
News of a bad year
Recession again
And the weatherman made
A promise of rain

Just give me the facts
Don't give me your views
Well, what's going on
Better give me the news

Serial killer
Whole a lot of blood
In the west there's a storm
Bringing rain and a flood

A strike in the mines
A riot in streets
A famine somewhere
And a war in the east

992. Please Me

Down by the town hall
Hôtel de ville
World at a standstill
In from the street
Our eyes don't meet
And you stand away
Hear my voice speak
Not sounding too sure
Strangers in an elevator
We wait for a floor

I could save up my time
What's it all for
You could please me
Don't ignore me
Don't tease me
Anymore!
Because, I am sure
You take my breath
I'm not breathing
Common sense
It is leaving
Closing the door
Please, please, please
Don't tease me
Anymore!

If we have the will
There is a way
Make time for some play
Feeling so sweet
Could we just meet
Pick out a nice day
Sometime next week
Just go take a walk
Strangers have got nothing to say
But I want to talk

993. Dark Potions

In pictures shaped from dreams or less
I drink dark potions of forgetfulness
Till the tides of memory ebb away
Like light that fails at fall of day
I pray to purge these thoughts of you
To sleep in realms beyond this view

I spy wonders in this world so new Seek mysteries that chain so few
Upon these paths of restlessness
I drink dark potions of forgetfulness
Black opiates for visions rare
Bring marvels and such fancies fair

Alas for cures so ill begotten
I will wake no thoughts forgotten
Tethered here by some immortal will Walk waiting, wanting, ceaseless still Weave paths of peaceless emptiness
I drink dark potions of forgetfulness

994. Waylaid

After midnight there in chaos
Not for all is simple sleep
Lot of swimming in a dreaming sea
And the ocean gets so deep

There's an ambush being organised
In the canyons of the heart
The feelings lay in hiding
They are waiting, they stay watching
For the loneliness to start

Waylaid
In love and falling
Into the shade
Waylaid
Two gentle heart beats
Many promises are made
Waylaid
They're lost, they meet
They make the trade

After midnight there is chaos
But there's never quite enough
For the drowning in that dreaming sea
And the ocean runs so rough

Meanwhile the winds of emptiness
In the canyons of the soul
The feelings are blown about
Under the blue of desert sky
The tumbleweeds will roll

Waylaid
In darkness lovers
Games are played
Waylaid
Dancing to their hearts
But the piper must be paid
Waylaid
Gold and diamonds
All trinkets fade

995. Gone Like That

I will enjoy my misery
I drape myself in black
One day you were here
Then you were gone like that

It's a grey day here today
A lonely heart makes memories
And words it needs to say

Cold and windy winters
Make wishing seasons
Harsh days to survive
But wishes are not reasons
To keep all hopes alive

The thought of changes
Makes for fears
The dark alone
Is full of dangers
Some partings make for tears
Turns lovers into strangers

Won't fool myself with sympathy
Vain thoughts you may be back
One day you were here
Then you were gone like that

It's a grey day here today
A lonely heart seeks company
In memories that stay

Best I sail with the wind of change
It's time to make a tack
One day you were here
Then you were gone like that

It's a grey day here today
A lonely heart is aching strange
As it slowly beats away

996. Big Trouble

If my heart goes any faster
There's nothing left but panic
Or a ritual by the moonlight
Which starts sounding part satanic

I have kind of got the fever
And I'm not feeling well
I'm feeling hotter
Than fallen saints
That burn in hell

Everyone believes
Trouble comes in threes
It don't come in twos
It don't come in ones
They always say
Trouble follows trouble
After trouble
Well, here we are
And here she comes

With big trouble
There's no warning
You'd said
"I better go to bed
I'd feel much Better in the morning."
(That is what you said)

But I ain't feeling any worse
Probably think you can relate
My hands have got the wanders
Like my head has strayed of late

Something turning in my blood
And it runs a riot
Don't you kind of wish
We could go escape
Somewhere quiet?

Two's company
Three's quite a bunch
If your feeling hungry
We could go do lunch
Or maybe it's much better
We could fly away
Send ourselves a postcard
Hey, what do you say?

997. Make My Tomorrows

You're lying naked near me
Your skin pressed to my skin
Sad, no one ever told me
Why things end as they begin

The sun reborn at mornings
Disciples to the alter
Drag my feet into today
Uncertain heroes falter

These days are fleeting tourists
And I feel them passing through
I would cease and be at peace
Lay down to rest with you
If I could find the ways to make all my tomorrows
Made of yesterdays

I'm speeding down a highway
Not wise to look for dangers
To start to hope for changes
Or company of strangers

Looked into the mirror
And I strangely see the past
I blinked and it was gone
Mystic visions never last

A screaming siren somewhere
A red light goes by blinking
Over the narrow roadside
The stars go back to winking
Now the moon is just a smile
And even that is sinking
While memories like a knife
Cut deep into my thinking

My meaning like
The time escapes
Flies without detection
I try catching
Storing memories
Antiques for a collection
But it's getting very dusty now
Nothing seeming worth the time
To waste with my inspection

998. All About Time

Time is so continuous
But we make it into steps
Just so we can count them off
One day to the next

Let's steal away some moment
And save it in our mind
If it's wrong to keep it there?
I wonder what's the crime
Another day is ticking by
I guess it's all about time
All about saving time

Time is not a storage box
To fill up with our regrets
Just so we can count them off
One day to the next

Time is splitting our hearts
Each beat everyone forgets
Just as we can count them off
One day to the next

999. Endings Are Beginnings

You slip the prism from your finger
It rends the light into a rainbow
Today the time is slow
You've a head of haunted echoes
From somewhere long ago

We gambled life
We've no regrets
We earned our money
Placed our bets
Waited for our luck to turn
Waited for the winnings
But took a while
For us to learn
Endings are beginnings

I pick a blossom from the garden
Count out the petals on the flowers
Hold to magic powers
It's the wisest way I will find
To while away the hours

See me pour my sorrows over ice
Into a sea of troubles passed
Add whiskey to the glass
For really if I'm going down
I want to go down fast

Nothing left the same
No familiar ring
Doing that
Change thing
The world changed
You changed
I changed
Everything
Doing that
Change thing

1000. Damage Done By Time

(If I was dressed in black)

There was damage done by working
In the summers endless shine
There was damage done by winter
For the cold can be unkind

There was damage done by drinking
Sure the spirits drive you blind
There was damage done in prison
When I did not toe the line

There was damage done by family
Who treated me too kind
There was damage done by people
Who had different ways to mine

There was damage done by fate I think
And not of my design
There was damage done by loving too
The girl I left behind

But most of all the damage
Was the damage done by time
Yes, most of all the damage
Was the damage done by time

1001. Songman

I set out north and wandered
Met a girl with eyes from Spain
Sheltered in a jungle cave
From storms of violent rain
Catching falling rain drops
Counting them to keep me sane

By trade I was a songman
With six strings of shiny steel
Riding a train of melody
On a track of rhyme and feel

I turned to west and walked
Until the dust stuck in my bones
I mined the fields of fire
Digging opals all alone
My pockets holding nothing but
A bag of coloured stone

I travelled south and crossed
Red mountains lit by dawn
Escaping to the plains I found
Where time itself was born
My mind lit up like electrics
The swift changes in the storm

I headed east and stumbled
Till the sea came to my sight
Surfing many waves of blue
Measured time from dawn to night
Collecting shards of fluid mirror
Reflecting broken light
